Following SEATO Session

Western Big 3 Officials Set Strategy Talk

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Western Big Three strategy meeting was arranged for late today following the second secret session of the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization.

Secretary of State Christian A. Herter invited Britain's Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd and French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville to the private meeting.

The Western foreign affairs chiefs were expected to conduct a private post mortem on the summit conference collapse and scan the future for what the Communist might do over the next few months.

They are here for sessions of the SEATO Council of Ministers, which includes also the prime ministers of Australia and New Zealand and the foreign ministers of the Philippines, Thailand and Pakistan.

Both Lloyd and Herter were to address the council, completing a round of speechmaking, before the delegates got down to more concrete details in the four-day session.

Tuesday's speakers were said to have agreed in blaming Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev for the summit blowup. They spoke about the danger of a Red Chinese push now in places under SEATO's defense umbrella, such as the tiny kingdom of Laos in Southeast Asia.

The delegates were reported in accord that the Communist threat must not be fought by defense alone, but also through measures to improve the lives of the impoverished millions who comprise most of Asia's population.

The Philippines, Thailand and Pakistan were said to be interested in more economic help from the others. But Western officials gave no evidence of proposing a big stepup in aid.

Columbiana Boy Riding Scooter Killed by Car

Ralph (Corky) Beck, Sophomore Leader, Victim of Collision

COLUMBIANA — A 15-year-old sophomore at Columbiana High School, president of his class, died shortly after 5 p. m. Tuesday of injuries suffered when he was dashed from a motor scooter to the ground after colliding with a car on Lisbon St.

The victim, Ralph E. "Corky" Beck, son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Beck of the Columbiana-Lisbon Rd., reportedly was on his way home from school during the lunch hour when the collision occurred at 11:55 a. m.

Driver of the car was Benjamin L. McPherson, 26, of Alliance. He was charged with failure to yield the right-of-way and fined $15 and costs in Mayor E. L. Calvin's traffic court Tuesday afternoon before the youth died.

Police said young Beck was driving his motor scooter southwest on the Lisbon St. when McPherson, heading in the opposite direction, made a left turn into Pearl St. in front of the scooter. Beck hit the car on the right side, and was thrown to the pavement.

The youth suffered a skull fracture and was rushed to Youngstown South Side Hospital where he died five hours later.

Born in Columbiana, Aug. 28, 1944, he was a member of the First Christian Church and the Torch Club at the high school.

Besides his parents, he leaves two brothers, Richard of RD, Columbiana and Wilbur of Columbiana, and his maternal grandmother, Mrs. Martha Miller of RD, Columbiana.

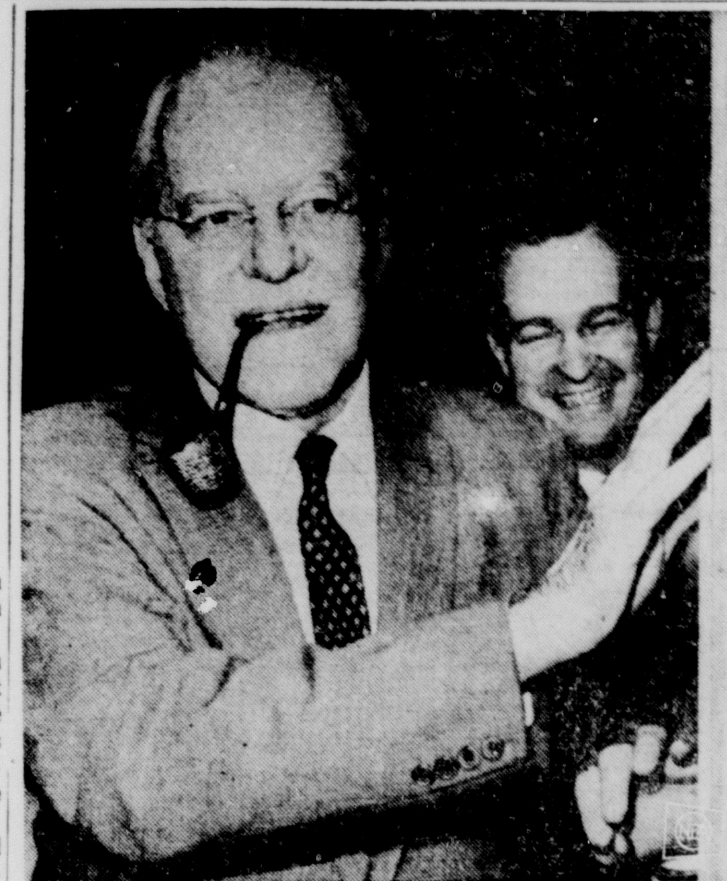

Services will be held Friday at 2 p. m. at the Seederly-Bellhart Funeral Home in Columbiana. The Rev. Frank Lillie of the Christian Church will officiate, with burial in Columbiana Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home Thursday evening.

Tobin-Proposed Project Advanced

Plans Are Okayed For Juvenile Camp

In an opinion on the three proposed plans for a district juvenile work camp or detention home under study by the juvenile judges of the 18th Congressional District, Atty. Gen. Mark McElroy, approved plans one and three, according to Judge Louis Tobin.

Plan one is for a construction of a detention home, at an estimated cost of $135,000, to house 30 boys and 10 girls.

Plan three would provide a detention home for 18 boys and 7 girls, plus a youth camp for 50 boys, at a cost of $155,000.

Plan two was ruled illegal unless the state amended its present law legislated in 1959 for county level facilities. It called for a youth camp for 50 boys with no detention facilities.

Judge Tobin sent copies of McElroy's opinion to all the 18th district judges and to Judge Samuel Carnes of Guernsey County who requested that his county be included in setting up the installation.

A meeting is expected to be called in the near future of county commissioners from Columbiana, Carroll, Belmont, Jefferson, Harrison and Guernsey counties to see if they will go along with the financing of the project.

Plans for the camp were first proposed by Judge Tobin who secured the cooperation of the other juvenile judges in the district.

Cutbacks Or Tax Studied by Council

Tidelands Issue Appears Far From Settled

Supreme Court Rules Against Mississippi, Alabama, Louisiana

WASHINGTON (AP) — The question of submerged oil lands in the Gulf of Mexico, which has bedeviled the federal government and Gulf states for 20 years, appeared far from settled today despite a new Supreme Court decision Tuesday.

There almost certainly will be more years of litigation and perhaps further legislation by Congress.

What the court decided was the seaward distance in which each state could claim the mineral rights.

It decided that: Texas and Florida boundaries extend three marine leagues from the ordinary low water mark, or about 10 1/2 miles. But the boundaries of Louisiana, Mississippi and Alabama extend only three geographic, or nautical, miles, or about 3.45 land miles.

The decision was greeted with joy by Texas and Florida officials. Texas has some leased oil areas in the Gulf. No oil has been discovered yet off Florida but test drillings are being made.

Congressmen and state officials of the other three states used such words as "incredible," "fantastic" and "discriminatory." They pledged to ask the court to reconsider the case, and congressmen talked of new legislation next year to upset the decision.

The courts still must decide just how the newly defined areas are to be measured.

The question of who owns the submerged lands was settled in 1945, when the Supreme Court upheld the Submerged Lands Act of 1953. That law gave the jurisdiction to the states involved instead of the federal government. That law said the states should have their historic seaward boundaries as of the time they joined the union, and this was the crux of the argument.

Salem Man Injured When Hit by Auto

A 46-year-old man was treated at City Hospital Tuesday at 4:15 p. m. for bruises of the thigh and body suffered when he was struck by a car on S. Lincoln Ave., just south of State St.

Police said Thomas Nedelka of 947 Newgarden Ave. was struck when he attempted to cross the street from the east side to the west. He reportedly walked from between two cars into the path of one driven by Ronald Ackerman, 18, of 943 W. State St.

Nationwide Survey Results

Children, Money Major Sources of Happiness

NEW YORK (AP) — Children and sufficient money are the major sources of happiness for Americans.

Debits and insufficient housing—not enough money, in other words—are the major reasons for unhappiness.

These are among the basic findings of a nationwide mental health inventory of the average U.S. citizens, taken by the University of Michigan's Survey Research Center. The results were made public Tuesday night.

The report said only 17 per cent of those surveyed said marriage alone made them happy, and only 14 per cent credited their jobs.

Only four per cent said they were unhappy (in 1957) because of world tensions and possibility of war.

The survey results are in a book, titled "Americans View Their Mental Health." It is the fourth book in a series supported by the Joint Commission on Mental Illness and Health.

The survey was based on 2,460 interviews. One of the conclusions was that older people find fewer shortcomings in themselves than do younger people. Another was: "Younger people are more involved in achievement and older people are more involved in considerations of the moral and the good."

On the question of how Americans handle their personal crises, the report says:

"Many do nothing, or forget about it; permit the situation to run its course. Those who try to cope with their troubles on their own often turn to their spouses, other members of their families, or friends."

"Another sizable group prays. Sixteen per cent as a means of handling their daily worries, and even more—a third—pray when faced with a critical unhappy period in their lives."

"Rarely did they put their faith in bartenders, taxi drivers, fortune tellers, or other supposedly popular, but unorthodox confidants."

Chairman J. William Fulbright (D-Ark.), reporting that, said Dulles replied he preferred not to comment on the question.

That was just about all Fulbright would say about Dulles' testimony, which the latter refused to release for publication even in censored form.

Solons Borrow $2,000 to Meet Late Payroll

No Funds On Hand For June 15 Payroll; Discussion Is Held

City Council, at a special meeting Tuesday night, hinted it might do something shortly in the line of cutting municipal services or finding additional income — possibly an income tax — to bolster the city's weakened financial situation.

The meeting, called to consider borrowing $2,000 to meet a one-day overdue payroll in the general fund, saw Council do just that and, at the same time, give a rehashing of the city's "not so pretty" financial future.

The $2,000 was needed to help meet a $9,560.87 payroll. Until the enactment of the emergency ordinance last night, the general fund had only $6,169.60 on hand.

Although the money is being borrowed from a bank so that hired employees might be paid, it was noted that parking meter monies and the mayor's monthly court and office receipts would enable all personnel to be paid, including city officials.

Mayor Dean Cranmer said City Auditor Helen Coyne informed him that $2,755 was needed to meet the entire general fund payroll. He noted that he would turn over roughly $800 and that parking meter fees totaling about $300 would bring the total income since Tuesday to roughly $2,200.

'Not Employees Fault'
Councilman Carl Abe, who suggested borrowing the money to pay the city workers, said he did so because he could see no reason for letting more than $6,000 sit idle while employees were not paid. He declared it was not the employees' fault the city had money problems, adding it was Council's responsibility to see that they were paid.

Councilman Donald Cannon in reply to Mr. Abe's remarks, and before the Mayor revealed that all personnel could be paid, stated that he felt Council should borrow enough to pay everybody on the payroll, including elected officials. He declared that the mayor, auditor and solicitor also have obligations to meet and should not be forgotten anymore than any other employee.

The hint that something might soon be done about finances followed the revelation from Councilman Fred Koenreich and from Mayor Cranmer that the next revenues from the County Auditor's office probably will not arrive before the next payroll which is due on June 15.

In order to meet that payroll, Council will need roughly another $10,000 with very little chance of getting it, said Mr. Koenreich, who is finance committee chairman.

Council President Michael Schuller declared that "in view of the situation cutbacks should begin immediately," adding that it was "up to Council to do something about the problem."

Councilman Koenreich added his "amen" to that statement, going even further saying that the cutbacks should have been started at the first of the year.

However, he noted that the reason the cutbacks had been delayed was to give the Chamber of Commerce-Mayor Income Tax Study Committee time to investigate the city's need for an income tax. He said at the time the investigation was going on—during the first two months of the year—Council expected to get a favorable report from the committee.

He said it was unfortunate that "we couldn't convince the committee of the need for more money. They took it for granted that things such as the inheritance taxes received last year were closer to average receipts than the usual. Last year we received roughly $30,000 in inheritance taxes. This year we may be lucky to receive $5,000."

Mr. Koenreich indicated this difference alone dashes all hopes of raises for city employees and fur-

Senate Cuts Warren Costs On Reservoir

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Senate committee has voted to reduce by two million dollars the amount that local residents would pay toward construction of a reservoir near Warren, Ohio.

The action by the Senate Public fort to induce some of the residents to a share of the cost.

The action by the Senate Public Works Committee was taken at the request of Rep. Michael J. Kirwan (D-Ohio).

The reservoir, which would provide flood control, aid in the water supply and abate pollution, is proposed for construction on the west branch of the Mahoning River.

The original plan was for residents of Trumbull and Mahoning counties to contribute about seven million dollars to the 14-million-dollar project. The Senate committee voted to reduce this contribution to $5,200,000 in the hope of persuading Trumbull County (Warren) residents to pay their share.

They have previously refused to approve a two-million-dollar bond issue for the project.

Residents of Mahoning County (Youngstown) have agreed to a five-million-dollar contribution.

Under the new proposal, the local contribution would be worked out by officials of Mahoning and Trumbull.

The $5,200,000 would be payable as follows: $3,230,000 in cash during construction, the balance of $1,970,000 payable when the project is in useful operation or in installments over a 40-year period plus interest.

The two-million-dollars involved in the reduction in the local contribution would be made up by the federal government.

Kirwan said this is the last attempt to persuade Trumbull County to participate in the west branch project.

The proposal, part of an overall rivers and harbors authorization bill, is subject to approval by the Senate and House.

S. Africa: The War of the Races

Restless Natives Sure Revolution Is Coming

By SAUL PETT

Second of Three Articles

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP)—How angry, how restless are the natives of South Africa under the white man's rule?

No public opinion polls cover this part of the world but there are some clues.

A black man working on a railroad or in a construction gang raises his sledgehammer, brings it down hard and, with deep fury, chants in Zulu: "Abelongo God damn basi biza o Jim."

Translation: "The whites, God damn them, they call us Jim."

Or Charlie or Henry or boy or any name the white man chooses except the right one.

"We are ready to fight if guns ever come down from the north," a young native student told me.

Revolution Some Day

"There is no doubt; some day we will have a revolution," said a native teacher.

"And the worst part of the tragedy," said a young native writer, "is that when it comes, we will be blind. We will have to shoot the whites we like and the whites we don't like. There will be no time to distinguish."

But all of them agreed that the great mass of natives are still far from revolt because they are politically uninformed.

We were talking in a smoke-filled, crowded, candle-lit shebeen, a speakeasy. In South Africa, blacks are prohibited by white man's law from drinking liquor.

This shebeen was in a huge housing development outside of Johannesburg, where the government has replaced the dirty old shacks of metal sheets and clay floors with new larger houses of concrete or cinder block.

More than a dozen natives crowded around me in the dinette of a neat, three-room house run by the "queen" of the shebeen. Cool jazz came from a record player in the corner. The Africans assembled wore Western clothes and some had the little beards symbolic of jazz fiends everywhere.

Tell of Troubles, Hope

But jazz wasn't on their minds. In perfect English, they told an American reporter of their troubles and hopes.

"With the arrogance of the present government, which we can't even consult," said the writer, "there ultimately can be no other way but revolution. We won't settle for anything less than full equal rights."

"But remember, chaps," said the teacher, "only about three-eighths of our people know what's going on. The rest know nothing. With all our leaders in jail, there is no one to educate or lead them."

"Yes, but an underground is forming," said another man. "We will have a new organization and the day after the state of emergency is lifted, there will be more Sharpevilles, more riots, more bloodshed."

A fat little man suddenly grabbed my lapels.

"I had a friend, a teacher, I knew from boyhood," he said. "He was arrested for a pass book offense. He was tough and he was brave and he wouldn't be pushed around. They took him to a prison farm where he probably objected to something—you don't object to anything in a prison farm. Been to Death

"He was killed. He was beaten to death. I know because I saw the marks on his body and I buried him."

"Most of the native political unrest comes from the cities. Those in the country hear little of politics. But at one Zulu reserve, I found an exception, a native chief."

"We want to be free of colonialism, we want to own our own land," he said. "We want a voice in Parliament. We don't want to throw the white man out. We want to share his leadership. But above all, we don't want violence."

The black man, especially those in the urban areas, has come far under the white man's rule. Generally, he eats better, lives better, earns more by African standards, gets more education, more medical attention. But the irony of progress, so far as the government is concerned, is that those who have advanced the most in

Death Gun Disputed In Hargrove Case

PAINESVILLE, Ohio (AP)—

Floyd E. Hargrove's lawyers have launched their defense of the former truck driver by asserting that the weapon presented as evidence by the state is not the weapon that actually killed Charles R. Clark of Mentor.

Before the state concluded its case Tuesday, it had contended that the .22-caliber rifle recovered Jan. 4 from a stream near Mentor was the murder weapon.

Hargrove allegedly told police he had thrown the rifle away shortly after the Christmas Eve sniper slaying of Clark, a business executive and former Sunday school teacher.

The defense opened by attacking the validity of the state's ballistics evidence and asking permission to have its own ballistics expert examine the weapon.

The trial was adjourned so that David Cowles, retired former chief of the scientific unit of the Cleveland Police Department, could go with defense attorney Louis A. Turi Jr. and Asst. Prosecutor Thomas Dean of the state crime lab at London.

Turi said Cowles wanted to test with the same equipment used by the state. Permission for the trip was granted by Judge W. S. Slocum.

Two friends and former neighbors of Hargrove testified for the defense that Hargrove visited their home in Willoughby Christmas Eve, shortly after the time Clark was reported slain in Mentor, about five miles away from their home.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. Diday of Willoughby said Hargrove appeared untroubled, neat and tidy that night. They said he stayed until about 8 p.m. and then left to take Christmas presents to his five children who live with his former wife, Beverly, in Euclid, a Cleveland suburb.

Despite Storms' Fury, Death Toll Is Comparatively Light

Despite the awesome character of nature when in a destructive mood, less lives than you might think are sacrificed to the fury of storms.

The total for a decade in continental United States as charted, above, for ravages of tornadoes, hurricanes and floods comes to just under 3,100 lives.

Flood figures are exclusive of lives lost in tidal waves, such as those accompanying the Louisiana hurricane of '57. Those fatalities are counted as hurricane deaths. TORNADO top for the decade of 516 deaths in '53 resulted from unusually severe twisters in Michigan-Ohio-Massachusetts - Texas. HURRICANE toll in '55 can be laid largely to hurricanes Connie and Diane. Audrey was the big killer in '57, and upped the toll to a decade high.

In both '55 and '57, floodwaters paced the hurricane casualties. Both figures reflect the death toll. Flood figures for '58 and all yearly figures for '59 are tentative. Data as compiled by Metropolitan Life from Weather Bureau.

Irksom Remarks

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Remarks miss us, but after all there'll be a lot of other dogs there to keep him company."

"After he's 6 months old, it isn't good for a dog to eat more than once a day."

"Sit up, Rover, and beg."

"I see by the newspaper that some old maid left $50,000 to her cat. Why is it so few people leave money to dogs?"

"We bought Rover for a watch dog, but we feel sure now that if burglars broke into the house the only thing he'd do is lead them to the silverware."

"As soon as you let him out, he decides he wants to get back in. Let him scratch at the door for a while."

"Lassie doesn't have a thing on Rover—except size, looks, brains and a bank account."

"I wouldn't say he was exactly afraid of the cat next door. But when she comes into our yard, he's the one that tries to climb a tree."

"Even if your little boy does pull his tail, Rover won't bite. He simply adores children."

"The man at the store said this new canned dog food was much more nutritious than fresh meat, so I bought two cases."

"Let's get one thing clear, Rover—the day you start paying the rent is the day you can start sleeping on the sofa."

"We'll have to leave him at the vet's during our vacation. He may miss us, but after all there'll be a lot of other dogs there to keep him company."

"It's got so he's just like one of the family. The one I have in mind is my mother-in-law."

"Well, most dogs don't really like to be patted on the head, but Rover doesn't mind. He's too lazy to mind anything."

"What do I mean by lazy? Well, if I give him a bone, he trots out into the back yard and just stands there—waiting for me to dig a hole so he can bury it."

"A guy in the next block is buying his pooch an air-conditioned doghouse. He must be out of his mind. I don't believe in spoiling dogs."

"What a life! He spends five minutes a day eating — and 23 hours and 55 minutes sleeping."

"Sometimes his expression is almost human. If Rover could really talk, I wonder what he would say to us."

Specter of Counterrevolution Haunts S. Korean Government

SEOUL, South Korea (AP)—The specter of counterrevolution haunts the new government of South Korea.

So far there is no actual evidence of an organized plot to overthrow Acting President Huh Chung.

But there are strange stirrings. They probably were partly responsible for ex-President Syngman Rhee's sudden flight to Honolulu Sunday.

In the talk of antirevolution and counterrevolution, elements most commonly mentioned are: Rhee's now-discredited Liberal party; ex-Premier Lee Bum Suk's fascist-like "Blue Shirt" movement, now resurgent and renamed the National Independence League; a new reputedly leftist group, the Young Guardians of the Republic; some wealthy conservatives and perhaps some military figures.

The key to the situation is the provisional government's investigation into the rigging of the March 15 presidential election which triggered the April students' revolt that toppled Rhee.

So far the investigation has jailed nine members of Rhee's last 11-man cabinet, a minister from a previous cabinet, two former presidents of the Korean Reconstruction Bank, one Bank of Korea governor and a vice governor, two former national police directors, the chief of the presidential palace police, the 13 members of the election planning committee, two former provincial governors, a former mayor of Seoul and Rhee's personal bodyguard.

The probe also prompted the resignation of Lt. Gen. Song Yochan, the army chief of staff, who took responsibility for the army's part in the fraudulent voting. Two other top military commanders also have resigned.

The investigation is biting much deeper into Korea's former rulers than seemed likely when the probe began. Undoubtedly it is causing those who feel they might be next to seek some way of eliminating the danger.

Rhee's name, before his departure, popped up repeatedly as a possible rallying point for those apprehensive of the investigation

In Wake of Summit Conference Collapse

U.S. Takes Look At Defenses

A FLEET OF C-124 cargo planes is the key to another Berlin airlift.

By RAY CROMLEY
WASHINGTON — (NEA)—Something like a precautionary alert has gone out in selected U.S. military commands at home and abroad. Some leaves have been cancelled. Unit commanders in some key areas have been told to be especially watchful.

This is one U.S. reaction to Nikita Khrushchev's torpedoing of the Summit and his threats on Berlin. It—and other defensive reactions—are not being changed by Khrushchev's softer talk of delaying a Berlin showdown for six or eight months.

Among the other moves:

1. Detailed standby plans are being made for another Berlin airlift. The key: fleets of C-124 super cargo planes, each with twice the capacity and markedly greater speed than the C-54's used successfully in the 1948 airlift.

2. The Pentagon is taking steps to make certain that U.S. and friendly Chinese forces in the Formosa area have the military supplies they need for an emergency.

3. Plans are being made for strengthening the U.S. Army divisions in South Korea.

DEPARTMENT OF Defense strategists with new urgency are again reviewing production plans for the Atlas intercontinental ballistic missile, the Polaris missile and the Nike-Zeus anti-missile missile to determine if new speed-ups are in order.

"We don't think we'll need an airlift now," said a key State Department official. "We think Khrushchev is just stirring up dust."

Then he sat slowly back in his brown leather chair, wiped his face, and added flatly: "But we're not taking chances."

"We don't have what we call an official alert," said one strategically-placed Pentagon officer. "We just want units to be careful, not overlook anything, and above all not treat things right now like they're running a regular milk run and get careless."

"We're just being what you would call prudent, just prudent," said another Pentagon official smiling carefully. "Just in case," he added, shrugging and spreading his hands.

What then of the airlift? The airlift 12 years ago used roughly 250 C-124's, each with a 10-ton payload. It kept up for 16 months. Then the Russians decided the blockade wasn't getting anywhere.

Men who know how these things run say we could put about 250 C-124's into the operation now. We could carry approximately twice the tonnage into Berlin every day that we carried in then. These military men calculate we could keep up this airlift indefinitely, keep Berlin going at about its present economic level.

A BERLIN AIRLIFT would be no snap. The Russians jam radar and radio communications. They would buzz American cargo planes. They would plant decoy signals to lure the U.S. pilots of course and into forbidden East German territory where they'd be captured.

Nevertheless, the military men think they could put in one C-124—or 20 tons of cargo—into Berlin's three largest airfields every three minutes if they had to. That's 400 tons an hour.

But there are some high-placed officers in the Pentagon who figure that if anything happens soon, it will be a Red Chinese attack in the Formosa area. That's the reason for the quiet but careful provisioning. Military men calculate we have enough force in the area now. But they would need more ammunition and some additional weapons in case of a severe round of fighting.

There is considerable pressure within the Pentagon for further step up in the Atlas and Polaris missiles. And for boosts in the pace of research work for the Nike-Zeus anti-missile system.

It isn't certain yet how far this pressure will go. But if the Atlas and Polaris continue to pan out in tests as successfully as they have in the past few months and if Khrushchev's anti-U.S. statements continue with their present vigor, there's a good chance additional funds will be sought in a supplementary budget in early January.

Chain Reactions Among Students

The chain-reaction that contributes most to international tensions is the kind found in nuclear bombs. But a lesser type we have been witnessing of late is a bit unsettling, too.

It is the chain-reaction of student protests in various parts of what is called the free world.

It started in South Korea, where student demonstrators managed to bring down the government of Syngman Rhee.

The Koreans' success inspired Turkish students to start a protest movement against the government of Adnan Menderes, which has been climaxed with a bloodless coup by the Turkish military.

In the meantime, Japanese students set out to precipitate the downfall of the government of Nobusuke Kishi in Japan because of its promotion of a new mutual security treaty with the United States.

CONDITIONS in Korea and Turkey are still up in the air, but they do not appear to present a threat to pro-Western alliances. The protests in those two countries were primarily aimed at political leaders who had become prone to answer internal problems with too much repression.

Thos now in control have pledged themselves to the principles of democracy, in both domestic and foreign policies.

The big question mark is Japan, and that situation is potentially more dangerous than the other two. There are some essential differences.

One is that the protest against the Kishi government is not based on internal practices but on foreign relations, principally with the United States.

Another is that the protesting students do not represent a general mass unrest, but the opposition views of a couple of minority parties—the Socialists and the Communists.

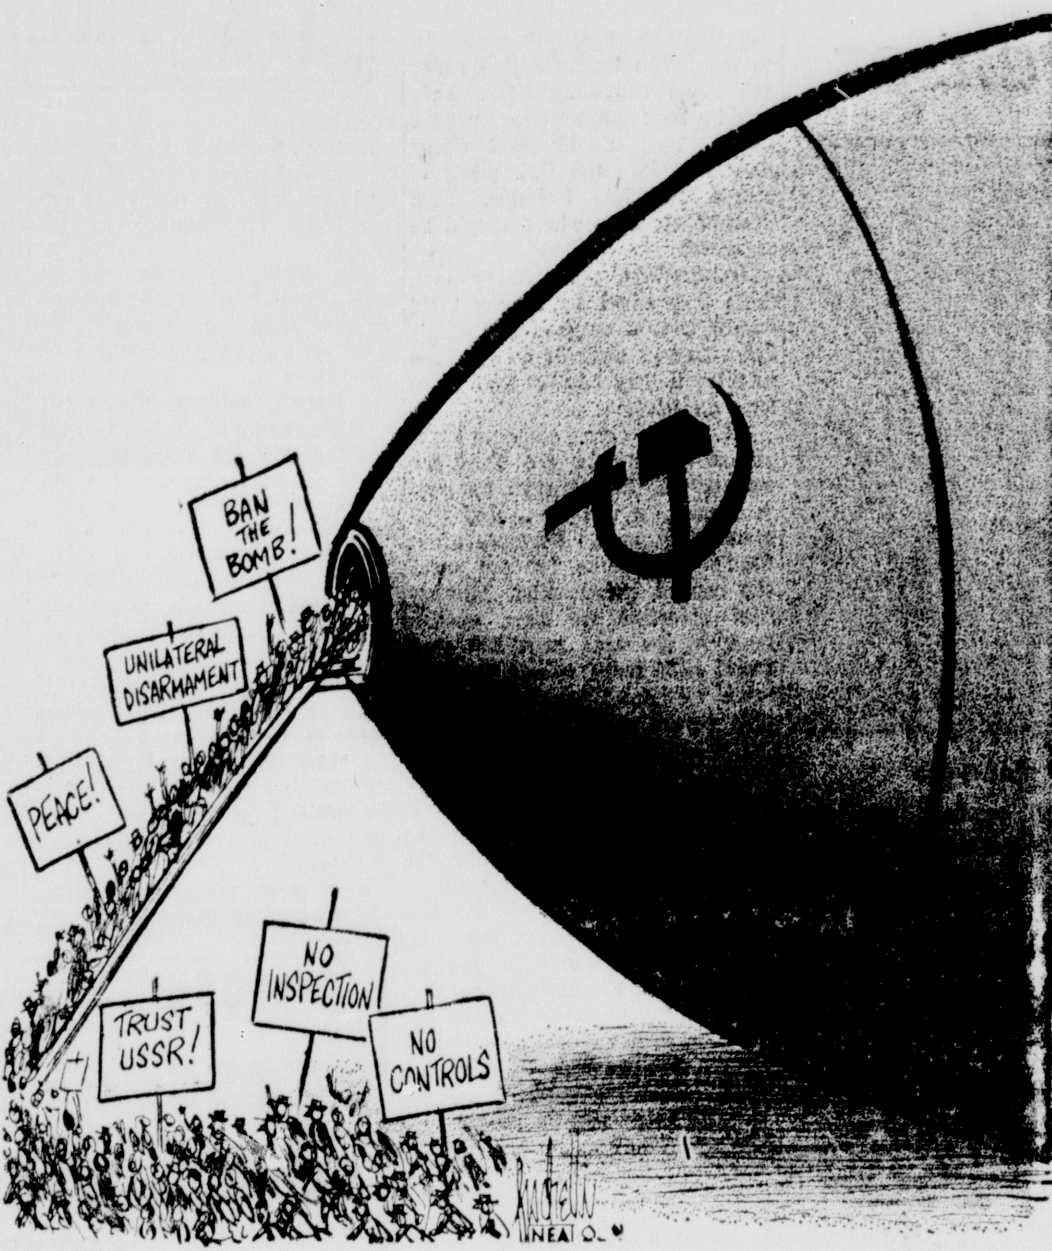

Informed observers in Tokyo report that a militant student group allied with these minority parties has led the organization of the demonstrations, but that most of the students participating appear to be more on a springtime lark than seriously aware of the implications of their behavior.

THUS, the observers say, the Japanese students do not seem to have the general support of their elders, as the Koreans and Turks did. The adults who are encouraging them are the Socialist and Communist political leaders who are trying to embarrass and dethrone the Kishi government.

This means that the minority may be able to manipulate the situation to create a crisis so difficult that the Socialists and Communists will be able to accomplish their goal without the support of the majority. It has been done before, and the leftists are past masters at it.

This is what Japan's chief justice, Kotaro Tanaka, was talking about when he warned recently that "revolutionary" groups "influenced by foreign powers" were utilizing the agitation over the United States treaty to promote their own ends.

Thus, this latter end of the student chain-reaction could be much more explosive than the Korean protest which set it off.

Hunting for the Organization Men

Each year when it's time to round up the college graduates for job opportunities, the story is the same.

The graduating physicists, chemists, engineers and mathematicians are being snapped up by talent-hungry organizations and tranquilized with starting salaries of up to $1,000 a month. Their future, the country is assured, is bright.

The student who has not qualified in these most-wanted studies also has a bright future. If he has anything on the ball, he can find a place in the free enterprise system at a starting salary of possibly as little as $300 a month and as much as $500 a month, if he made an outstanding academic record.

It is a familiar story—and in 1960 it is more familiar than ever. Jobs are hunting graduates. Opportunities are unlimited. Starting salaries are attractive. Opportunities for advancement are juicy. Education is paying off handsomely, particularly scientific education. It pays to be a student. Not only are all the male graduates going to latch on to something good but all the female graduates who have decided to look for jobs will be hired too.

Competition: The Spice of Trade

For the sake of American businessmen who might have forgotten, Leslie B. Worthington, president of the United States Steel Corp., has delivered a pointed reminder of what free enterprise is all about.

His message was presented specifically to his fellow steel producers in the American Iron and Steel Institute, but its basic thought applies universally to business.

Competition, he said, must be hit head-on, application by application and customer by customer.

He developed his theme at length and in detail, but its essence lay in his remarks on foreign competition, something worrying United States steel makers increasingly these days.

Because wage rates can be expected to give foreign producers a price advantage for years to come, Mr. Worthington said, the American steel industry must sell harder its advantages: service, quality and availability.

Then he added:

"Notice I have said nothing about tariff protection, because this does not, in my opinion, provide a permanent or basic solution for the problem which confronts us. That problem is

Once Over

If the threatened actors' strike ever took place, it would provide a drama entitled to a review by critics, with the following possibility:

"Without music, special scenic effects or costly costuming, Broadway put on one of its most spirited productions last night.

"It gave the theater its biggest novelty in years in a performance that ignored sex, suburban life, mystery elements, Louisiana love life or a ballet.

"It was sensational through the fact it owed nothing to Shaw, O'Neill or Williams.

"Billed as 'Life With Moolth' or 'Is There A Life After Layoffs?' the production had suspense and excitement. It opened with an Exodus touch, excitingly done in beginning the story of the actor's belief that out of a theater ticket he should get a larger cut.

"The play had a message which seemed to be that, while a performer has it good in spots, he has too many prolonged intervals when it is a case of survival through delicatessen sandwiches.

"The element of conflict was provided by the producers, costumed as sufferers from Broadway economic uncertainties, bad notices and timid backers. They projected pictures of themselves as having it tougher than Mesalla in a fight with Ben Hur.

"They were brilliant in a scene storming the embattled actors with an argument that producers are subject to heavy losses by storm, poor scripts and excessive optimism.

"The entertainers countered with a scene featuring the idea that an actor's job is

Of course, it doesn't always go according to the script. In fact, it rarely comes close to the script in actual practice. The exceptions—the graduates who fall into clover—do not constitute a rule. And the students who were assured that the world wouldn't hold it against them for not studying to be scientists and mathematicians have a hard row to hoe.

Many of these do not even fit the specifications for organization men. Some are "different" and some are "peculiar," in the sense that they are individualists. American Management Assn. has reported that recruiters avoid these off-beat types like the plague, though in all probability the future will be dominated, as the past always has been, by individualists.

All skepticism aside, this is a boom year for college graduates. The oyster is waiting to be opened. The job will be easier with the right fork, but even a graduate with a sharp nail has a chance.

Education is about to be vindicated again, when thousands of new names with new degrees after them go on the payrolls without more than the usual unavoidable delay.

competition, and we can meet it only by our being prepared to compete successfully in a society where every individual — and every business enterprise — has the right to choose freely in the market place and the product which serves the buyer best."

In short, Mr. Worthington said the steel industry must not depend upon government protection to stay ahead in a dog-eat-dog world.

This brings to mind the efforts of many businessmen to rely on fair trade laws to provide an edge in competition. A Hamilton County fair trade law, passed last year to replace one previously discarded by the Ohio Supreme Court.

And what is fair trade? By Mr. Worthington's definition, it is giving the consumer a free choice in the open market place. That cannot be done when government steps in.

Free competition is not easy. That is why so many people are tempted to seek government help. It is easier to do that than to dig into imagination and resourcefulness to produce results in a harsh situation.

But in the long run, free enterprise always produces a healthier—and faire—economy.

By H. I. Phillips

here tonight and gone tomorrow night. There was a thrilling climax closing with the words, 'In fact, some may close before tomorrow's MATINEE.'

"Point made by the actors seemed to be that, while applause is wonderful, you can't eat it.

"Argument by producers appeared to be that clippings can be nourishing in old age and that there are vitamins in layoffs. A large audience was held spellbound, and why not? It was the first chance to see a show free."

INTERNATIONAL CONFLICTS in the old days were extra mild. No ruler called another a thief. Nathan Hale was never denounced as a bandit.

We hear Paris may sue the summit for damages.

Soviet gift of statue, "Beating Swords Into Plowshares," has been accepted as a Rose Garden decoration by the U.N. It is a bronze figure of a handsome, athletic-type hero, hammer over head, about to wallop a sword.

Dag Hammarskjöld was snapped in smiling handshake with the Russian delegate in accepting it. (And we wonder why many Americans are less than enthusiastic about the U.N.!) Would any world peace organization of past have accepted a Kaiser Bill statue entitled, "Love and Kisses," a Mussolini group called, "Down With Balcony Speeches" or a gift from Hitler labeled, "Tranquility Over All"?

Associated Newspapers.

It's just not sure that no man is an island, entire of himself. There's that rugged 38-year-old Jim Luken, the only Teamster leader left in the broad land who still tells Jimmy Hoffa to go jump into the Potomac—or the Ohio River here if Hoffa has any preference.

This is the sentiment in this Queen City where the Teamsters national machine has not yet ground down the opposition. I do not insinuate that Jim Luken's island of sheer courage isn't inhabited by colleagues who have just as much guts. They're still in this fight despite midnight telephone harassments, attempted frame-ups, terror and a constant war of nerves.

They have gotten a real taste of the Teamsters machine democracy into which the House of Representatives Judiciary Committee might look before it closes its hearings on the bill to get the federal courts and the Monitor off Hoffa's back. Hoffa's congressional bloc has as its floor whip a gentleman from the Chicago wards, Rep. Roland Libonati. He has been talking "inside the House" about the unfairness of the Monitors to big Brother Hoffa and of returning "democracy to the Teamsters."

"I will tell you why we don't charter then and why they haven't applied for a charter (in the AFL-CIO). Two thousands make their living over-the-road. They leave that city and go 50 and 100 miles away every day of their working lives.

Nudge to Economy

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP) — Earning trends in the money market in recent week are building up expectations today that interest rates may turn down in important sectors of the economy and that the amount of cash stock buyers must put up will be lowered.

Those who believe this is in the cards argue that the money managers may want to give a small nudge to an economy that has turned its back on a once-touted boom. Or at least they may want to end what restraint they have been maintaining to dampen any incipient fires of new inflation.

Those who think the interest rate and stock market margin changes may be delayed argue that the international situation's impact on future U.S. defense spending is still unsettled. This could make the money managers go slow.

The money managers themselves hold to their old position that they follow money market developments rather than initiate them. Easier money conditions thus would be the cause of any relaxation rather than any desire to make money still easier—or to encourage more stock trading.

And those who are counting on a drop soon in the margin requirements are warned today that in the last 23 years such a move by the Federal Reserve Board has been followed by a drop in stock prices rather than any sustained rise—although the rise has always come along later.

The present rules on margins call for 90 per cent cash in the new purchases of stock. There are complicated rules by which old brokerage accounts can be changed under previous cash setups.

Many brokers now believe that the board will cut this cash requirement to 70 per cent. And some say the cash-credit rule might be on a 50-50 basis.

This would allow persons wishing to buy stock to put up a

WHAT ABOUT starting in Cincinnati? Here Jim Luken heads the city Joint Council of Teamsters. Here they've taken control of the council and the biggest unit, Local 100, from Hoffa men — including one who had a long criminal record topped by a recent term in the Ohio State Penitentiary.

It took a series of elections and court actions to oust hitherto untouchables. Would Rep. Libonati and his congressional bloc like to know about the moment during this campaign when a local funeral parlor was called and told Luken was dead and the undertaker telephoned Luken's surprised family to learn where he could pick up the body?

Would Rep. Libonati like to ask AFL-CIO President George Meany what he meant when he said not long ago, that "in one large city (Cincinnati), there's been a fight on for the last year and a half between the officers at the head of the Teamsters in that city and the forces of Hoffa with all his goons and every possible dollar he could throw in there.

"These thousands of members, 10,000 roughly in three or four local unions, have gone through elections and they have beaten Hoffa every step of the way.

"I will tell you why we don't charter then and why they haven't applied for a charter (in the AFL-CIO). Two thousands make their living over-the-road. They leave that city and go 50 and 100 miles away every day of their working lives.

Like everybody else, I am pulling myself together after learning about the plane that was spying on Russia from the air. In my case the blow was a sucker punch that came from the side. I did not catch it on the nose, head-on, which seems to be where it caught other U.S. taxpayers.

I always had assumed that some of the taxes I sweat out of my income went for spying, and I certainly wanted to assume that most of the spying was done against the government that does most of the spying against my government.

Details of the operation were beyond imagination, but whenever I thought about it I found it comfortable to believe that the same gumption which built the citadel of human dignity in the New World was being applied systematically to protecting it from Old World subversion.

It was always my fervent hope that we had so many stool pigeons, secret agents and curvy dolls prying secrets out of the Russians they didn't dare to open their mouths; that we were peeking at them from every peephole, bribing their weak sisters and using every known trick of the spy trade to learn how many fillings they had in their back teeth.

I hoped wishfully that the U.S. Navy had secret subs blowing bubbles in the Caspian Sea, and it would have made me jump for joy to hear we were planting microphones in the Siberian ice fields.

Every time I heard that some big-shot Russian had decided not to go back to Moscow after a trip abroad I wondered what it cost to buy him out.

In every spy story on television I made the good guys be Yankees and the bad guys be Russians, because it made me feel secure to believe that my countrymen could give 3-to-1 odds and still make money betting on itself in the spy business.

A few years back when I bought a new raincoat I chose a "foreign intrigue" model; I was so carried away by the whole idea of showing the Russian hard noses the depth and breadth of my support for Central Intelligence Agency, hooray for the red, white and unknown.

Doorway to Hell

The Issue In 1960

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Should There Be a Change In Face of a Crisis?

Politicians are watching closely the so-called peace issue. Oddly enough, it is more accurately described as a war issue, and the last time it played a decisive part in American elections was in 1940 when Franklin D. Roosevelt won an unprecedented third term.

Nobody knew in June 1940, when Hitler invaded France, that the United States would be drawn into the war.

What interested the voter in November 1940 was that the nation was in the midst of a crisis, and the electorate felt it was too dangerous "to swap horses in mid-stream."

Something of the same atmosphere was created in October 1956 when the Suez crisis developed.

It didn't matter much what the opposing politicians said about "bungling" foreign policy in the Middle East or the failure of Secretary Dulles to placate Nasser and similar criticisms of a captious character.

What mattered was that Britain and France had sent troops to Egypt and the United States was trying to ease the situation by mediation.

Democrats admit now that this crisis helped President Eisenhower win re-election, as lots of voters switched to him in the closing days of the campaign.

When the peace issue — or war issue — is analyzed historically, it will be found that what matters most are the conditions that prevail in the autumn of an election year and not necessarily those that have gotten headlines in May.

BASICALLY the American people want peace but not "peace at any price."

The veterans of past wars may not want to see another conflict but they are not the kind of men who believe in surrender and defeat.

Now, it is often argued in political circles that the women do want peace at any price.

Recently when the summit meeting collapsed and a sort of fright seized the country that war might be imminent, here and there comments were heard that women voters would really accept Communist rule in preference to destruction by nuclear weapons.

The Soviets, of course, have built their whole strategy on scare and bluff and would like to conquer the world without firing a shot.

This, however, is the oldest form of blackmail the world has ever known. Brave men and women have stood up to it before and have sacrificed themselves rather than accept live in bondage.

The British people had their choice of slavery under Hitlerian rule or standing up to the Nazi assault and they gave the whole world an example of the inherent character of free people who cherish their liberty.

THE LIST of these persecutions runs ad nauseam — and I mean nauseam. Luken and his people won, nonetheless, while opposition faded everywhere.

Luken isn't bitter. He knows the odds are against them. Why?

"Well, it's more than the terror and harassment," he philosophized. "I'm 38. If they push me out I can always get another job. I'm a milk wagon driver. But most of the other Teamsters officials elsewhere are up in their fifties. They're earning their 10 grand a year. If they get squeezed out because they buck the machine, what will they do — go back to driving a truck at that age? So they go along. They don't like it. But they go."

Since Socrates isn't around to discuss democracy with Congressman Libonati, perhaps the Judiciary subcommittee would like to discuss the concept with Jim Luken. Or doesn't anybody care?

Luken isn't bitter. He knows the odds are against them. Why?

"Well, it's more than the terror and harassment," he philosophized. "I'm 38. If they push me out I can always get another job. I'm a milk wagon driver. But most of the other Teamsters officials elsewhere are up in their fifties. They're earning their 10 grand a year. If they get squeezed out because they buck the machine, what will they do — go back to driving a truck at that age? So they go along. They don't like it. But they go."

Since Socrates isn't around to discuss democracy with Congressman Libonati, perhaps the Judiciary subcommittee would like to discuss the concept with Jim Luken. Or doesn't anybody care?

But the issue in politics never is drawn sharply between one party that allegedly favors surrender and the other that supposedly wants war.

THE REAL ISSUE is whether, in the midst of crisis, there shall be a change and whether such change, which involves a turnover of high officials and confusion in governmental administration, isn't a risky business.

Under such circumstances, the party in power benefits. The economic conditions that prevail play a vital role, too, in influencing the voter.

Back in 1916, when the United States was not yet in World War I, the Democrats had a slogan "peace and prosperity" and argued that President Wilson, who was up for re-election, had "kept us out of war."

The opposing candidate, Charles Evans Hughes, Republican, contended that the Democratic administration had not been sufficiently vigorous in upholding American rights.

Finally it turned out that extraordinarily good economic conditions in the Western states, where wheat was selling at a record price, gave Wilson enough electoral votes — plus the South — to win even without the bit states east of the Mississippi, all of which with the exception of Ohio went Republican.

Ohio in large part was then an agricultural state and its economic condition was far better than that of the Eastern states, which had suffered because of the unemployment due to interruption in world trade.

The American people don't like war and will not support an administration that is truly bellicose. Once war threatens, however, they support the party in power.

An administration that seeks to maintain peace with honor is likely to get support so long as it pursues a cautious policy of restraint and doesn't weaken its defenses.

ONE THING is clear already — Nikita Khrushchev hopes to defeat the Republican administration in this country.

His remarks on the golf playing of President Eisenhower are an echo of partisan criticism in America but they sound differently when the Moscow dictator says them than when they are uttered by carping critics on this side of the Atlantic.

In the long run, Khrushchev may unwittingly help the existing administration to stay in power. For the "peace issue" doesn't mean that the President and the secretary of state are responsible for the erratic behavior of a Communist ruler or that the voters want to choose as president someone who will bow and scrape and apologize to Nikita Khrushchev.

It's a long long time to the day in November when the American people will vote on the peace issue, and everything depends on what will have happened between now and election day.

No Disenchantment

By TRUMAN TWILL

Like everybody else, I am pulling myself together after learning about the plane that was spying on Russia from the air.

In my case the blow was a sucker punch that came from the side. I did not catch it on the nose, head-on, which seems to be where it caught other U.S. taxpayers.

I always had assumed that some of the taxes I sweat out of my income went for spying, and I certainly wanted to assume that most of the spying was done against the government that does most of the spying against my government.

Details of the operation were beyond imagination, but whenever I thought about it I found it comfortable to believe that the same gumption which built the citadel of human dignity in the New World was being applied systematically to protecting it from Old World subversion.

It was always my fervent hope that we had so many stool pigeons, secret agents and curvy dolls prying secrets out of the Russians they didn't dare to open their mouths; that we were peeking at them from every peephole, bribing their weak sisters and using every known trick of the spy trade to learn how many fillings they had in their back teeth.

I hoped wishfully that the U.S. Navy had secret subs blowing bubbles in the Caspian Sea, and it would have made me jump for joy to hear we were planting microphones in the Siberian ice fields.

Every time I heard that some big-shot Russian had decided not to go back to Moscow after a trip abroad I wondered what it cost to buy him out.

In every spy story on television I made the good guys be Yankees and the bad guys be Russians, because it made me feel secure to believe that my countrymen could give 3-to-1 odds and still make money betting on itself in the spy business.

A few years back when I bought a new raincoat I chose a "foreign intrigue" model; I was so carried away by the whole idea of showing the Russian hard noses the depth and breadth of my support for Central Intelligence Agency, hooray for the red, white and unknown.

That something had gone sour and the Russians had caught an aerial spy and were claiming to have the pieces of his airplane, I thought this would cut in the whole country on my enthusiasm for spying and my confidence in my country's ability to hold its own.

Instead, the country began to whimper for shame. Its self-righteousness had been injured. No longer could it boast with a straight face that it alone of all collections of humans on earth was pure as the driven snow. The disenchantment was shattering, judged by the sobs and moans.

This was a blow. From the side. A sucker punch that sent me reeling. How could I have been so wrong as to think the United States had spies, that they flew over Russia in scabbard jets and that all this was done, mind you, with the knowledge of Dwight D. Eisenhower himself? How could I have been so wrong as to think babies were not brought by a bird called a stork, that politicians always play to win and that the moon isn't composed of a well-advised brand of process cheese?

I wasn't even surprised by Pearl Harbor—not after all the provocation we had given Japan to attack us. But I was burned to a crisp when it came out that the lunkheads who had been spending my money for defense weren't smart enough to take advantage of what they had been able to find out with radar about the intentions of the Japs.

Only one thing could have disenchaned me about spying on Russia—to learn that it wasn't being done with every resource my tax money could buy.

Mile Branch Grange Bows 7-2 to Purity

By DICK BRAUTIGAM
Mark's Landing stretched its Class A League lead to a full game over Carl's Tavern by squeezing out a 5-4 victory over Italian-American Club Tuesday at Kelley Field.

Theron's IGA went 11 innings before pulling a 9-8 win out of the fire against First Salem Corporation. Purity Dairy defeated Mile Branch Grange 7-2 in the other Class A tilt played last night.

A two-run circuit blast by Weyant in the fifth inning brought Marks Landing from a 4-3 deficit and gave the Guilford Lake outfit its fifth straight victory of the season.

AFTER DRAKULICH had opened the inning by reading first on an infield error, Weyant reached out and tagged one of Jimmy Smith's fast balls to the opposite field. The ball barely cleared the right field fence.

Marks jumped off to a three-run lead in the first inning when Adams opened with a single. Weyant walked and King and Hanna laced out consecutive doubles.

Italian-American took the lead with a four-run outburst in the second frame. Menichelli, Paster, Smith, Foreman and Hamilton all hit safely in the uprising.

Both teams then chalked up nothing but goose eggs until Weyant unloaded in the fifth.

The victory enabled Marks to move a full game out in front of Carl's Tavern. The Lisbon team has a 3-0 mark.

THERON'S PUSHED across two runs after one out in the bottom of the seventh to edge First Salem Corporation 9-8. First Salem had gone ahead in the top of the inning when it tallied an unearned run. The fray was deadlocked at 7-all after the regulation seven innings.

Adams contributed three hits for Theron's including the game winning single.

Murph Sosbe relieved Red Dotson on the mound for Theron's in the sixth inning and received credit for the victory. Bill Kyser went all the way for First Salem and absorbed the loss.

LARRY MOULIN tossed a three-hitter in Purity Dairy's 7-2 win over Mile Branch Grange. Wilford Krabill's triple featured a three-run third inning for the winners. Ed Gulling collected two of Purity's eight hits.

Pitcher Ed Shoak plated Mile Branch's two runs in the second inning with a double to left.

Natural GOLF

Downswing

By JIMMY DEMARET

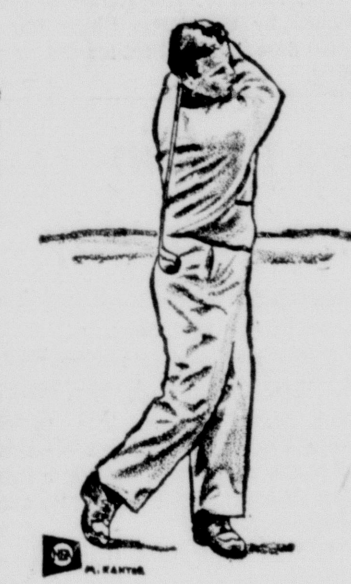

The all - important first move back to the ball is led by the hips, which in turn bring the arms, hands and clubhead down in that order.

The wrists remain cocked, the knees flexed at the start.

The hands unleash all the power transmitted to them by the legs, hips and arms and the wrists uncock as they reach a point directly over the ball.

Even though the hips have carried the swing past the point of impact, the general position of the entire body remains "behind" the progress of the clubhead. This seeming body lag is common to all good swings. If the feet, knees, hips, shoulders, hands and club have worked as a single force, the player will be able to stand in this position indefinitely, perfectly balanced.

This permits him to enjoy the Perfectly balanced

thrill of a completely-spent rhythmic, powerful swing.

NEXT: The hands in swing.

Fed Up With Writers' Treatment

Yawkey Drops Hint He May Move Red Sox From Boston

BOSTON (AP) — Boston Red Sox owner Tom Yawkey is so fed up with the treatment his team is getting from local sports writers he has dropped a hint he may move the team from Boston.

But multimillionaire Yawkey, in a rare news conference, said he will go along with Billy Jurges as manager of the seventh-place team. Later he qualified his remarks about moving the club.

He made a surprise appearance in the press room atop Fenway Park just before Tuesday night's Boston-Washington game. Yawkey dropped several hints he may move the team if the writers don't quit riding the club. He chided the reporters gently at first, then not so gently.

"How many of you guys think you're qualified to manage a ball club?" he demanded.

He fixed one reporter with a stare.

"Do you?"

"No, I don't think I'm qualified," the reporter answered.

"You're damn right you're not," Yawkey snapped.

"Sometimes it goes beyond the bounds of human dignity and reason," he said. "I don't put up with it. I don't have to. Just remember I've got the last word."

Pirates Shade Reds 4-3 In 11th

Eight Pitchers Used by Losers

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The Cincinnati Reds tried eight pitchers and three catchers in one game Tuesday night, yet oddly enough, pitching wasn't their big worry.

The Reds' trouble was clutch hitting.

Pittsburgh, leading the National League, finally jammed the bases in the 11th inning and won 4-3 on a run-scoring single by Roberto Clemente.

It ended some impotent baseball by the Reds.

In the last three innings, the Reds thrice loaded the bases. In the ninth, the two tying runs came across. In the 10th and 11th inning, the threats died.

Pirate Pitcher Wilmer Mizell, acquired from St. Louis last Friday, held the Reds in tight check until the ninth inning, then suddenly faded.

He hit Gus Bell with a pitch, Frank Robinson followed with a double and Lee Walls delivered a run-scoring single. Fred Green took over and cut off the rally after Ed Bailey's grounder scored Robinson with the run that tied it, 3-3.

Roy Face, the brilliant relief specialist who finished up for Pittsburgh, got into and out of trouble with ease in the last two innings.

Eddie Kasko, Vada Pinson and Bell led off the 10th with singles loading the bases. But Robinson grounded into a double play via home plate. Pinch hitter Jerry Lynch was passed on purpose, again filling the bases. But slumping Tony Gonzalez struck out.

Billy Martin's single, Roy McMillan's safe bunt and a pass to Pinson put three on again in the 11th. But Bell lined out to end the inning.

Cal McLish, Claude Osteen and finally Jay Hook tired their pitching hands for the Reds in the 11th, but Cincinnati's time was up.

Pinch hitter Smokey Burgess and Bob Skinner walked. Dick Groat (5-for-6 for the night) bunted safely when Osteen fell down trying to field the ball.

Clemente's deciding single off Hook followed.

Also in that inning, Umpire Frank Secory banished Hutchinson, catcher Dutch Dotterer and six Redleg players who were heckling him.

The Pirates chased starter Jim O'Toole early, piling up three runs on six hits off him the first two innings. Red relievers Jim Brosnan, Bob Grim, Bill Henry and Joe Nuxhall then threw zeroes through the 10th.

The Reds' first run came in the fourth when Pinson tripled and scored on Bell's sacrifice fly.

Bob Purkey opposes Bob Friend in tonight's series closer.

OUT OF DOORS with Field & Stream

By RUFUS LIDE

Camping is such a popular sport any more that some of the public camp sites are pretty well crowded.

In some instances you may run across a public camping ground and be greeted by a sign "Filled up" or "Closed" as there is no more room.

With all the rains we had over the weekend, campers remained in their tents or various other portable camps such as small trailers and the little trailers that can be transported folded up.

This is the type of trailer that appeals to me. Bottled gas for cooking or heating is attached. There are bunks, a gas refrigerator, and a couch bed that provides sleeping quarters for four.

THESE LITTLE JOBS can be towed along behind any kind of passenger car and they offer practically no wind resistance. Once you arrive at your chosen camp site, all you have to do is crank it up and you're in business.

Camping might have been originated by the fishermen, but to day many, many people spend the weekends camping as well as touring the various states, taking their bed and board along with them, so to speak.

At most of the scenic spots in the various states, the motels up their prices during the busy season so the average working man has to make arrangements to sleep and eat that the family can afford.

CAMPERS USING wall tents and umbrella tents at Lake Guilford, tell me that even though it was wet and rainy over the holiday, at least the pitter-patter of the rain drops provided a sort of lullaby for good sleeping.

Come morning, all they had to do was raise the flap, pump up the air in the little portable gas stove and get the skillet hot. Then bacon, eggs and flapjacks provided the breakfast menu.

Youngsters who have never experienced camping in the wilds find it most alluring and mysterious. During the still of the night a little screech owl sounds off with his little quivering call.

This tingles the spines of the youngsters who begin guessing what kind of an "animal" is making this noise. Some say fox, others a "coon" or a wildcat. Their imaginations get away from them, not realizing it comes from a tiny little owl no bigger than their fists.

THE BOOMING of a "hoot owl" sounding off in the tall timber is the thing that scares the daylight out of the kids if they are camping without adult supervision. This causes them to snuggle up a little closer to each other, wondering what's going to happen.

I know because I was one of those kids many, many years ago.

Entrants already in the field range in age from 8 to 18 years, and sports editor Fred Tharp said today he expected more than 100 to participate.

The state junior championship sponsored by the Ohio Golf Association, a 36-hole medal play test, is scheduled June 28-29 at Marion Country Club.

Power Is Benched With Back Injury
CHICAGO (AP) — Vic Power, Cleveland first baseman, was benched with a back injury Tuesday night as the Indians lost to the Chicago White Sox. He had played every inning of every game since the season started.

Power strained muscles in his back striking out in the second game of the doubleheader here Monday.

"I felt something pull at the time," he said Tuesday, "but it didn't hurt very much until this morning and then I couldn't even straighten up."

The injury may idle Power for several days. He was replaced at first base by Tito Francona and Carroll Hardy took Francona's place in left field.

camping out under a tent fashioned from burlap sacks.

Fishing over the weekend was poor due to the weather. So many times people make plans to do something that depends on fair weather. They look at the weather report and everything points to fair weather.

So many times fair weather is reported and the weather is just the opposite.

Now since the weather man has made so many miscalculated weather predictions, I think the only prediction for sure should be, "It will be fair, sun shiny and warm provided it is not cloudy, cold and rainy."

Welcome Wagon Officers Elected

New officers of the Welcome Wagon Newcomers Club will be installed June 22 at the Ruth Smucker House. Election took place at a recent coverdish dinner meeting in the Smucker House.

The officers are: President, Mrs. Elton Newman; vice president, Mrs. James Zboyosky; secretary, Mrs. Irvin Tice; treasurer, Mrs. Milo Elder; delegate to Salem Federation of Women's Clubs, Mrs. Harold Milber.

Mrs. Frank Mason conducted the business session. Mrs. Earl Johnson read minutes of a previous meeting, and Mrs. Donald Whitacre gave the treasurer's report.

Mrs. Ralph Crawford, Mrs. Kenneth Williams and Mrs. Johnson comprised the dinner committee. Deep purple rhododendrons and azaleas were combined in the floral centerpiece arranged on the table laid with a green cloth. Green candles lighted the setting.

Members brought favorite recipes to be printed in the club's magazine. White elephants were awarded as "crazy bridge" prizes.

There will be a board meeting June 8 at the home of Mrs. Willard Stamp of 389 N. Ellsworth Ave.

Baccalaureate Service At Columbiana Sunday

COLUMBIANA — "Adequacies for Life" has been selected by Rev. H. J. Scheidemantle, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, as his sermon topic at baccalaureate services Sunday for the Columbiana High School class of 1960.

The services will be conducted at the Grace United Church of Christ, starting at 8 p.m.

Rev. John R. Donley of the Church of the Nazarene will present the invocation and benediction, and Rev. Charles Lang, interim pastor at Grace United Church, will present the Scripture reading and prayer.

High school choir selections also will be on the program, under the direction of Mrs. E. Gordon Warner. Lana Keller will be organist.

Commencement exercises will be held Tuesday, June 7 at Firestone Park stadium, if weather permits. Otherwise they will be held in the high school auditorium.

MRS. A. C. PFUND JR. won the grand award in the senior division for her "U.S. Air Mail" exhibit at the joint show of the Columbiana, East Palestine Stamp Clubs, held last week end at Dixon School here. David Stewart of East Palestine won the junior division grand award for his "The Coronation" display.

Other Columbiana exhibitors who rated senior division awards were: H. Schneebelen, Mrs. Pfund and Elmer Early, first; Robert L. Forney and Early, second; Mrs. Freida Berryman, Robert Exten Sr. and Forney, third.

Local winners in the junior division included: Tom Pfund and David Strausbaugh, first; Linda Forney, David Weber, Arthur Exten and Robert Exten, second, and Douglas Turnbull, third.

Mrs. Pfund, secretary for the Columbiana Stamp Club, reported a "wonderful" crowd for the second day of the exhibit. Judges were William Howell of Warren, W. R. Clatterback and Dr. W. V. C. Carr of Youngstown.

GEORGE FISHER, Columbiana High School teacher and varsity football coach, will be recreation director for the summer program at Wilmington, N.C., the home town of his wife.

William Longworth, son of the Rev. and Mrs. W. S. Longworth and Rosalie Warner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. Gordon Warner, have been named to the dean's list at Baldwin Wallace College, Berea, for high academic achievement during the winter quarter.

Catholic Women's Guild members will entertain their husbands at a dinner at 6 tonight in the American Legion Home.

Horse Awaits Rescue From Basement

CHICAGO (AP) — Tommy, a waif of the slums who strained for years in the bitter world of push carts and peddlers' wagons, at last has found idyllic contentment.

Away from the tensions of modern living, Tommy dwells alone, master of his house, dining and drinking at leisure.

Cruel fate, alas, mocks him. Tommy is a horse. Sometime Monday night he either fell or walked down a stairway into a basement under his stable. He won't leave.

But whether Tommy approves or not, the Anti-Cruelty Society is going to rescue him.

J. J. Shaffer, director of the society, said workers will cut through a six-inch layer of concrete today and either walk Tommy up a ramp or hoist him with a winch.

Shaffer first heard about 12-year-old Tommy in a telephone call from Julius Pekovsky, a fruit peddler who owns the animal.

"You've got to come out here right away," Pekovsky cried. "There's a horse in the cellar and he won't come out."

"The horse is not suffering, he's just in a heck of a spot," Shaffer observed Tuesday.

That's a man's point of view, of course.

Tommy has plenty of hay, lots of water and though the concrete ceiling gives him only an inch of headroom, there's space all around.

That horse is eating like a king and doing nothing down there," said Shaffer. "I guess he figures it's better than pulling a cart."

Homeworth

Mrs. Dorothy Wyss was treated at Alliance City Hospital for a contusion of her middle finger sustained while working at the Ohio Drill Co.

Mr. and Mrs. John Baker were recent visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Baker of Salem.

Mrs. Howard Cobbs had Mrs. Robert Green as a special guest when she entertained the LBF Club Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Dwain Austin visited relatives in Marlboro Sunday.

Members of the Homeworth Garden Club met at the home of Mrs. Arthur Parrish Friday.

Mrs. Harold Eckert, president, announced that the club has been asked to send an entry to the Damascus Garden Club show June 9.

The next meeting will be held June 3 with Mrs. Russell Taylor. Mrs. James Jordan of Sebring was a Sunday guest of Mrs. Jaunita Boron.

Double Four Club members met in the home of Mrs. A. J. Santachi Tuesday.

Score awards in 500 were won by Mrs. Edwin McDonald, Mrs. Sam Collen and Mrs. Robert Sadler. Mrs. W. J. Leo held the traveling prize.

Albert Abrams of Chester, W. Va., was a business caller here Thursday.

Winona

Winona residents held Memorial Day services Monday morning at the Glen Bennett Playground. The Rev. Edgar Phelps, pastor of Winona Friends gave the address.

In attendance at the service were units of a parade which had marched from the fire house to the playground. Included in the group were members of the Junior United Local School Band, Loyal Temperance Legion, Cub Scouts and children marching with pets or riding decorated vehicles.

GAS FIRM PICKETED

EAST LIVERPOOL, Ohio (AP) — Despite a court order limiting the number of pickets to two, striking Ohio Valley Gas Co. employees placed four men outside the company's offices here Tuesday. No trouble developed. The strike began May 1 and affects 600 employees in eastern Ohio, western Pennsylvania and northern West Virginia.

S. African Prime Minister Unchanged on Racial Stand

BLOEMFONTEIN, South Africa (AP) — Prime Minister Hendrick F. Verwoerd Tuesday made his first speech since an assassin put two bullets in his head April 9, and quickly made clear he has not modified his racial segregation policies.

Speaking at a celebration of the 50th anniversary of the formation of the Union of South Africa, the champion of the apartheid predicted the white man will remain "the guardian of the black man" in South Africa.

Warning against a "black dictatorship," Verwoerd said a prosperous future can only be attained if two conditions are met.

Deaths and Funerals

Mrs. Baird Funeral

Funeral services will be held on Thursday at 2 p. m. at the First United Presbyterian Church for Mrs. Annie P. Wilms Baird, 79, of 226 Benton Road, who died Monday morning at City Hospital.

The Rev. Bruce Milligan will officiate, with interment in Franklin Square Cemetery.

Friends may call at the Stark Memorial today from 2 to 4 and 7 to 9 p. m. and Thursday from noon to 1:30 p. m.

Harry A. Kramer

CANFIELD — Harry Arnold Ave., Youngstown, died of cancer today at 8:10 a. m. at the home of his son, David Kramer of 4212 Tippecanoe Road, Canfield Township. He had been ill six months.

Born in Monongahela, Pa., on Sept. 2, 1888, he was the son of John and Emma Voelker Kramer.

For 18 years he was master mechanic at the Ohio Leather Works until his retirement Jan. 1.

Besides his son, he leaves his wife, Martha Frey Kramer, whom he married Dec. 20, 1917; three grandchildren; and six sisters, Mrs. Charles Marsh of Hollywood, Fla., Mrs. Gus Bauman of Salem, Mrs. Della Day of Arcadia, Calif., Mrs. James Connelly of Boardman, Mrs. William Evans of Wickliffe, Mrs. Herbert Hill of Los Angeles, Calif.

Friends may call at the funeral home Thursday from 7 to 9 p. m.

Mrs. Melvin Goldsmith

LISBON — Mrs. Nellie Evelyn Goldsmith of the Wick Hotel died unexpectedly about noon Tuesday at the Salem Central Clinic.

Born Dec. 28, 1876 in Lisbon, a daughter of James and Mary Jane Filson Charters, she had spent her entire life in Lisbon.

Her husband, Melvin, died Aug. 3, 1957, and they formerly lived at 518 E. Lincoln Way. Upon her moving to the hotel she donated a 19th century oil painting by a German artist to the Lepper Library. The landscape hangs on the library's east wall.

Her only survivors are several nieces and nephews.

Services will be held Thursday at 1:30 p. m. at the Eells-Leggett Funeral Home by the Rev. Paul T. Gerrard, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church. Burial will be in the Lisbon Cemetery.

Friends may call this evening at the funeral home.

He also noted that the budget for next year should take all of these things into consideration, plus the possibility of increased income through additional revenue sources. He noted that curtailed services or increased revenues are the only cures for the city's ills.

Mamie Treated for Bronchitis Attack

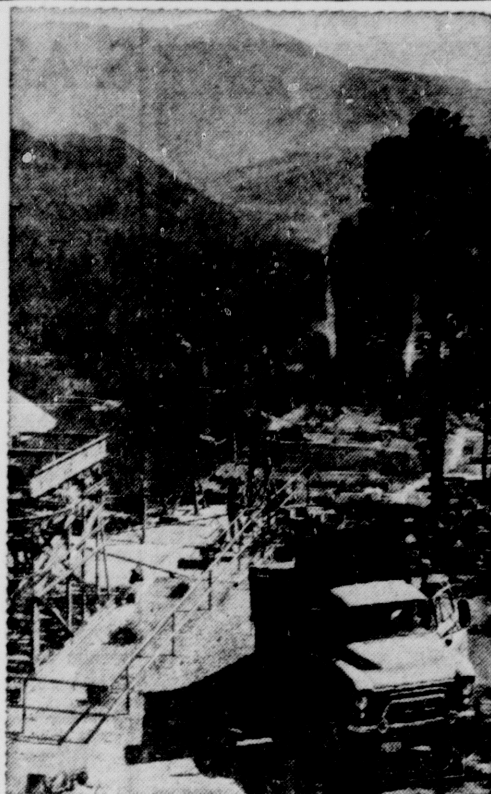

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mrs. Mamie Eisenhower entered Walter Reed Army Hospital Tuesday for treatment of an attack of acute asthmatic bronchitis, the White House announced today.

Doctors reported today that the First Lady is "as comfortable as she can be" under the circumstances, press secretary James C. Hagerty told newsmen.

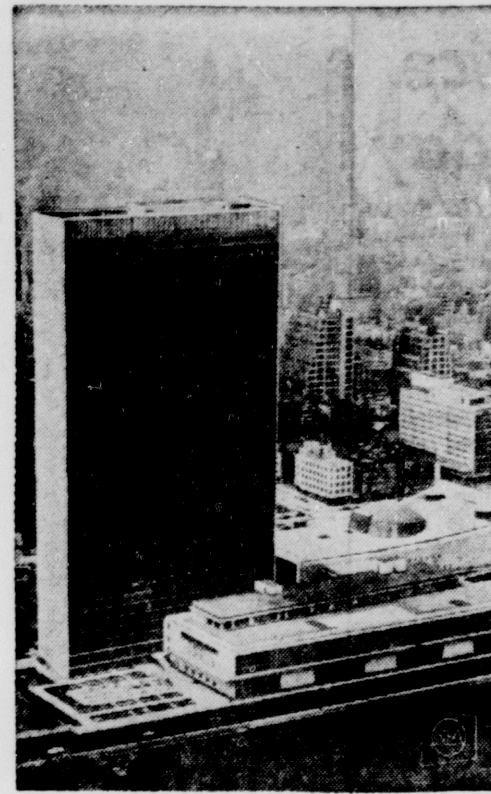

He added that she is feeling better than Tuesday and has very little fever.

The Many Philanthropies Of Generous JDR Jr.

John D. Rockefeller Jr., who died May 11 at the age of 87 in Tucson, Ariz., was one of the world's biggest philanthropists. He made a career of giving away millions of dollars of the ever-growing fortune built by his father, the original John D. Though JDR and JDR Jr. headed a family which gave away an estimated three billion dollars, the latter was still one of the world's richest men when he died. Pictured here are examples of his largesse. The restoration of Williamsburg to its colonial vigor cost 50 million; development of the Great Smoky Mountains National Park (where Gatlinburg is located), 5 million; site of the U.N., 9 million; restoration of Versailles and Fontainebleau palaces and Rheims Cathedral, 4 million. These are only a few of the Rockefeller's gifts. There were many other specific projects and the Rockefeller Foundation disperses grants for medical, agricultural and several programs throughout the world.

McClellan Testifies Against Presser

CLEVELAND (AP)—U.S. Sen. John L. McClellan (D-Ark.) was the leadoff witness today in the government's case against William Presser, Ohio Teamsters Union president.

Presser is charged with obstructing justice by mutilating and withholding records subpoenaed by McClellan's investigating committee. The trial opened in U.S. District Court Tuesday.

On his arrival here Tuesday night, McClellan said he was told that the government lawyers had said that he and Walter J. Sheridan, an investigator for the McClellan committee, would be called today simply to lay the groundwork for the government's case, presumably by explaining the work and purpose of the committee.

In Tuesday's session, two Akronites and 10 Cuyahoga Countyans were chosen as jury members. The opposing sides gave their opening statements to the jury.

Presser, president of Teamsters Joint Council 41, is under an indictment which charges that he partly destroyed an invoice which the government says listed the names of eight public figures who received $100 champagne buckets as Christmas presents in 1955. It is alleged that the names were torn off by Presser before being turned over to the Senate committee in 1958.

It is also charged that Presser withheld from the committee an envelope containing a notation "Christmas list," allegedly containing a list of merchandise of amounts of money written next to them.

Erie Thruway Section Opening Date Set

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP)—The State Highways Department today set the week of June 26 as its target for opening the western half of the Erie Thruway.

"The date is very tentative," a spokesman said.

The section to be opened would be between the Ohio state line and U.S. 19. When completed, the entire thruway will traverse 45 miles across the Pennsylvania "neck" between Ohio and New York. It will eventually link the Ohio Turnpike and the New York Thruway.

The department spokesman said shoulders of the state thruway are being paved, but that innovation has not slowed general construction. He said the road would be opened even if the shoulder paving jobs were incomplete.

The department has set a target period of early fall for completion of the eastern link of the thruway.

during a scuffle with the aide, after demanding unsuccessfully that he be allowed to see them.

Bufalino had accused O'Donoghue and the monitor staff of keeping him from the correspondence and files. He said he took the letters to bolster his complaints. Judge Letts later returned them to O'Donoghue.

New Firm Will Make Safety Ash Trays

Organization of the Sal-Spec Corp., a sales organization designed to promote the sales of specialty items, was announced today by the First Salem Corp. with headquarters in the Keener Building.

The first product to be put out by Sal-Spec will be a safety ash tray. The ash tray will feature a heat resistant metal which will automatically control the removal of the cigarette's ashes. As the cigarette burns the metal clip removes the ashes against a safety guard and returns the cigarette to rest on the clip.

Incorporators of Sal-Spec are Joseph Cefalde of 29 Mellot Dr., Youngstown, Miss Rosina Schell of Salem, and Walter J. Hunston.

Historical Society At Lisbon Meets

LISBON — Sixteen members of the Lisbon Historical Society met Tuesday evening at the Old Stone House, with Ross Fox, president, presiding.

The house has been cleaned and articles donated to the society from former earlier settlers have been placed in the rooms.

The house will be open to the public each Friday from 2 to 5 and 7 to 9 p. m. and Sunday afternoon from 2 to 5 p. m. during the summer months.

The local society in 1940 took over care of the house which was erected in 1805.

Persons wishing to join the society may contact any present member. The next meeting will be held Sept. 1.

Here's Explanation For Horseman Riding Wrong Way on Pike

FREMONT, Ohio (AP) — Now comes an explanation for the fellow in cowboy regalia who rode a horse the wrong way on the Ohio Turnpike near here Sunday morning.

James F. Wilson of Clyde, a filling station attendant at the Erie Islands Plaza, thought it made no sense at all when the man on horseback rode up and asked for gasoline. Then the cowboy rode off to the east in the westbound half of the toll road, carrying a can containing 74 cents worth of gas.

But it wouldn't make much sense either to hike two miles in cowboy boots if you had a couple of horses in a trailer hitched to your station wagon. And that was the case.

The station wagon pulled into the filling station not long after the horsemen had left, and the cowboys were up front and the horses were riding behind. The men explained they were from Canton, Ohio and on their way to a rodeo in Michigan.

Had a turnpike patrolman spotted the cowboy rider, the can of gas would have cost a minimum $50 fine, plus costs, turnpike officials said.

Palestine Kindergarten Registration Planned

EAST PALESTINE — Kindergarten registration for the East Palestine school system will be held from 9 a. m. to 4 p. m. Wednesday, June 15, at the high school office.

This registration is also for prospective first grade pupils who did not attend kindergarten here this year.

Those unable to come during the day can register from 7 to 9 p. m. on June 15. A birth certificate and vaccination record are required at registration.

Any child who will be five years of age during this calendar year is eligible for kindergarten. Any child who is six or will be six this year is eligible for first grade.

This registration includes children in the villages of Unity and Negley.

Massillon Man On Trial For Bribery

CANTON, Ohio (AP)—Michael Miljanich, 36, former smoke shop operator in Massillon, went on trial in Stark County Common Pleas Court today on a bribery charge.

He is one of three men indicted for bribery by a special grand jury impaneled by the state to investigate gambling and crime in the county. More than a dozen property owners have been charged with knowingly permitting gambling on their premises.

In a bill of particulars filed by lawyers for the state, Miljanich was accused of being the finance man for gamblers who allegedly offered 13 months' pay for 12 months work to Massillon police last summer if they would stop their crackdown on gambling.

Radiation Negligible From Atomic Plant

EAST LIVERPOOL, Ohio (AP)—Background radiation from the Shippingport, Pa., atomic power plant is negligible, says the Atomic Energy Commission.

A report covering the period since Jan. 1, 1959, has been filed with the Pennsylvania State Department of Health by AEC. It states that liquid radioactive wastes discharged from the plant have been well within the limits set by the Health Department.

The AEC's Pittsburgh office, in notices sent here, said the report establishes that operation of the plant has had no significant effect on background radiation of this entire area.

The Shippingport plant is eight miles east of here. Its nuclear reactor has been producing electric power, for distribution by Duquesne Light and Power Co., since December 1957.

Primaries Set In Two States

Wind Up Balloting Before Conventions

WASHINGTON (AP) — Primaries in California and South Dakota will wind up pre-convention balloting next Tuesday, but will offer little indication of the trend of the November presidential race.

The voting will be for delegate slates already substantially pledged, rather than for individual aspirants for the office.

Whether the outcome of a dozen primaries in which presidential hopefuls participated will make any decisive imprint on the two nominating conventions remains to be tested.

Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts captured strong support for the Democratic nomination by sweeping the primaries in which he was entered.

But Kennedy's rivals, who ignored the primaries, say those results proved only that the Massachusetts senator was more favored by the voters in that limited number of states than were opponents they said never were given a chance to win the prize. Where Kennedy faced opposition, most of it came from Sens. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota and Wayne Morse of Oregon.

Senate Democratic leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, Sen. Stuart Symington of Missouri and supporters of Adlai E. Stevenson dismiss Kennedy's Oregon primary victory over them as the expected outcome in a state where he campaigned but they did not.

On the Republican side, Vice President Richard M. Nixon demonstrated that he is a strong vote getter. In a few of the primaries, as an unopposed candidate, he got more votes than President Eisenhower did in 1956.

Nixon has made it clear he doesn't think his delegate slate will pile up as many votes among California Republicans Tuesday as Democrats will chalk up for a slate pledged to Gov. Edmund G. (Pat) Brown as a favorite son.

South Dakota will choose on the same day a Democratic slate which has been released but which still is nominally pledged to Humphrey, despite his withdrawal from the nomination contest.

A total of 7,960,753 persons voted in 12 previous major presidential primaries, an increase of 359,471 over the number who went to the polls in the same states in 1956. But the total represented only about 13 per cent of the more than 61,600,000 persons who voted in the general election four years ago.

Republicans outvoted Democrats 4,124,569 to 3,836,184. But partisans couldn't read much into this because a sizable portion of the GOP total was piled up in Illinois and Pennsylvania, where Nixon was on the ballot but the Democratic presidential votes all were write-ins.

Judge Tobin Named Chairman of Committee

LISBON — Probate Judge Louis Tobin was elected chairman of the court subcommittee for the revision of the children's codes at a meeting last week at Columbus. He called for another meeting on June 30, also at Columbus.

George Farrall of East Liverpool was placed on the adoption and placement committee on recommendation of Judge Tobin. He is the only county man on any of the committees, Judge Tobin said.

INDICTED FOR MURDER

WOOSTER, Ohio (AP)—A factory worker accused of killing his estranged wife and wounding her mother was indicted by the Wayne County Grand Jury Tuesday on charges of first-degree murder and stabbing with intent to kill.

Indicted was Charles E. Goody, 33, of Rittman. Sheriff's deputies said he killed his wife, Vergie, 33, and wounded his mother-in-law, Mrs. Cynthia White of Wooster, Tuesday night, May 24. Mrs. Goody was stabbed about 30 times, the deputies said.

BOY, 9, DROWNING VICTIM

PORTSMOUTH, Ohio (AP) — Steven Lawhorn, 9, of Rt. 1, Orient (Pickaway County) became Scioto County's first 1960 drowning victim Tuesday. Officials said Steven and two companions had been swimming in Scioto-Brush Creek near McDermott, where the victim was visiting relatives.

WHAT TO DO WITH IT — Modernists want the Senate-War-Navy Building, which stands next to the White House in Washington, torn down because it is an ugly pile of Granite. Antiquarians want it preserved as a good example of 19th century architecture. Its many-columned entrance is shown above. It houses the Budget Bureau, the National Security Council, Office of Defense Mobilization and General Services Administration. When told it was fireproof, Gen. Ulysses Grant remarked, "That is a pity."

Card Party Of Leetonia Rebekahs Held

LEETONIA — Seven tables of 500 were in play at the card party sponsored by D. Wallace Rebekah Lodge Saturday evening.

Mrs. Elva Snyder of Mineral Ridge and Mr. William Bixler of Niles won high honors. Miss Mabel Middleton and Mrs. Helen Archer, of Leetonia and John Hutter of Columbiana received the special prizes.

Mrs. Earl Kyser and Mrs. Archer were the committee in charge. The next party will be Thursday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Leonard Jr. and family spent the week end at Niagara Falls.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Miller of Niles and Harold Miller and son Jimmy of Lake Milton visited Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Leonard Sr. and Mr. and Mrs. Ed Gotthardt Sr. on Monday.

The Rev. William L. Woodall, pastor of the Leetonia Presbyterian Church will attend the meeting of the Ohio Synod at the College of Wooster in Wooster, June 14 to June 17.

The Junior Choir of the Presbyterian Church will practice at the church Friday at 4 p.m.

The Methodist Church Choir will meet for practice Thursday evening at 7. The MYF of the Methodist Church will meet at 8.

Mr. and Mrs. Regis Quilter of Washington, D.C., and Mr. Joe Quilter and Mrs. Julia Shally of Louisville spent the weekend with Mrs. Jane Kegelmeyer and Mr. and Mrs. Neal Kegelmeyer.

HALDI'S

The Doctor Says

By HAROLD THOMAS HYMAN, M.D.

Include Mother in Vacation Fun

In a preceding column I held forth on my first general vacation principle in behalf of the wage earner: Let Dad "convalesce" the way he prefers.

I want here and now to direct attention to the second general principle that requires planning of vacations so that additional wear and tear is not imposed on nonvacationing members of the family.

Let my personalization what I'm trying to convey.

CONSIDER THE PLIGHT of the wife and mother whose husband and children are eagerly looking forward to their respective periods of vacation.

So long as the children continue going to school, they will vacation about a third of the year.

At best this means later rising, disruption of housecleaning routines, staggered breakfasts, lunch on guests, all-day radio and TV, frequent interruptions for unscheduled trips to and from friends' homes, the pool, the beach, club meetings, picnics, cook-outs, the movies, ball games and parties.

Dr. H. T. Hyman

It means one or more daily trips to markets or shopping centers to replenish raided larders, complaints on the delay and confusion of the evening meal with its added starters, all-night radio and TV, nightly hassles about retiring.

COMPLAINTS WILL come from the working wage earner of negligence, followed by requests to "be a pal," pay him some attention, join him in whatever recreation or amusement seems to suit his fancy at the moment.

Now it's my contention that any vacation that imposes this type of prolonged stress and strain on another member of the household, and most especially the wife and mother, is a bad family investment.

My plea to each family group, partially in its self-interest, is to organize the vacation period to lessen the burdens of housekeeping.

At risk of further alienating many modern child psychologists, I'd suggest a start be made by enforcing discipline, assigning definite duties to vacationing children, rewarding work that's done competently and promptly and penalizing work that's done sloppily or tardily.

parcel, initiate a co-operative effort to get the household running with such efficiency that the wife and mother is free to resume her role as "pal" when her man gets his vacation.

I'll admit it sounds like a pipe dream. But maybe it's worth a try. And it may save doctor's bills later.

HELD IN MATE'S DEATH

CLEVELAND (AP)—Mrs. Elizabeth Downey, 44, will go on trial in Common Pleas Court June 27 on a first-degree manslaughter charge in the shooting of her husband, Francis X., also 44. She pleaded innocent when arraigned Tuesday before Judge William J. McDermott and her bond was continued at $5,000. The shooting April 3 followed a family argument at the Downey home in suburban Bay Village.

Lemon Mallow Pie Is Smooth, Tasty Dessert

Here's a recipe for a brand new Lemon Mallow Pie. and just in time for spring!

The fresh tangy flavor of the lemons combines with marshmallows and whipping cream for a delectable taste treat. And it's all so easy, too!

Just make the pie crust, the easy way, with pie crust mix. Even the most inexperienced homemaker can turn out a crust that is a baker's dream with pie crust mix. Flute the edges and bake the shell. Now, you're ready for the filling.

Lemon Mallow Pie

1 stick pie crust mix, 24 large marshmallows, 1-3 cup fresh lemon juice, 1-3 cup water, grated rind of 1 lemon, 5 to 6 drops yellow food coloring, if desired, 1 1/2 cups whipping cream, stiffly whipped.

Make 9" baked pie shell as directed on pie crust mix pkg. In saucepan, heat marshmallows, lemon juice, water and lemon rind, stirring constantly until marshmallows are melted.

Add food coloring. Chill until mixture mounds when dropped from a spoon. Fold in whipped cream. Pile into baked pie shell. Chill until set, 2 to 3 hours.

Serve cold. Garnish with whipped cream and sprinkle with lemon rind., if desired.

Pickled Mushrooms

Ingredients: 1 carton (6 ounces) fresh button mushrooms, 1/4 cup water, 1/4 cup sugar, 1/4 cup red wine vinegar, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon whole mixed pickling spices, 1 medium-small onion (sliced thin into rings).

Method: Wash mushrooms in cold water; drain. Do not remove stems, but if any are long cut evenly with mushroom caps and include.

Simmer mushrooms, caps down, and water in an 8-inch skillet, covered, for 15 minutes; watch carefully and stir midway.

Turn into a pint-size container the sugar, vinegar, salt and spices; add hot mushrooms and liquid. Mix well to dissolve sugar.

Add onion rings and mix. Mushrooms and onions should be covered with liquid. Cover and refrigerate overnight. To serve, lift mushrooms and onion rings from marinade, brushing off spices.

Bird Killers, Flower Clippers Are Warned

Complaints of children killing birds with slingshots and cutting flowers on private property brought threats of arrest from Mayor Dean Cranmer today.

The mayor said the use of slingshots in the city is prohibited by city ordinance and violators are subject to fine if caught. He noted several bluebirds were found dead in the downtown area over the weekend, apparently killed by stoning.

The flower clipping comes under the category of destroying private property, the mayor said, and again warned that violators are subject to fine. In both cases, children are suspected, the mayor said noting that juvenile authorities will be brought into the matter if the youngsters are caught.

MAPLE APPLE SODA

One quart apple juice, 1 pint half cream and half milk, 1/2 cup light corn syrup, a few drops maple flavoring, 1 quart maple walnut ice cream.

Combine apple juice, half and half, light corn syrup and maple flavoring. Pour into glasses. Top each with scoop of ice cream. Makes 8 servings.

Frosty hip has a gay little flurry of chopped maraschino cherries tucked away in its creamy depths. And the apple juice? Well, it's there, too, adding a pleasant apple tingle of flavor.

Camporee Set for Scouts July 22-24

LISBON — Columbiana Council, Boy Scouts of America, will hold a jubilee camporee July 22-24 at the Columbiana County fairground.

Troops and Explorer units will check in on Friday night, July 22 and set up camp. Saturday will be a day of displays, demonstrations and exhibits. Each unit will be asked to put on a display in its campsite area.

On Saturday night a campfire and pageant will be presented. Cub Scouts from many packs will join the event in the afternoon and will stay over for the Saturday night campfire.

Over 1,500 visitors are expected to view the camporee, according to Bennett D. Taylor Jr., scout executive. Every council in the nation will have camporees on the same dates, with over a million scouts and Explorers camping out, Taylor said.

BEEKEEPERS TO MEET

The first of three summer twilight meetings of the Columbiana County Beekeepers will be held Wednesday, June 8 at the Richard Howenstine home at Alliance RD 5, beginning at 7 p.m., according to Don Myers, county extension agent in agriculture.

Charles Reese, extension apiculturist, will be the featured speaker, discussing timely topics of interest to beekeepers.

All interested in attending are welcome, Myers said.

Two Homers Give White Sox 6-4 Win Over Tribe

Piersall Gets Three Hits

Hawkins Faces Athletics Tonight

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Jim Piersall, $250 poorer because of a fine, enriched his average Tuesday night with another home run, a double and a single in five times at bat.

The controversial centerfielder's homer led off Cleveland's attack against the Chicago White Sox in Comiskey Park. But two other home runs—by Chicago's Gene and Al Smith—turned the tables, giving the Sox a 6-4 victory in the finale of a three-game series.

Piersall's three hits, which included the first-inning, leadoff homer, gave him a .318 average—just behind Vic Power, who has .319. The four-bagger was Piersall's sixth of the season.

Despite the loss, the Indians remained in second place, but now they are two full games behind the Baltimore Orioles.

Facing the Tribe here tonight will be the six-place Athletics, who are seven games behind Baltimore.

Wynn Hawkins, unsuccessful in his last three starts, gets the call in the opener here. He will oppose Ray Herbert, who has beaten Cleveland once this year.

Jim Grant pitches in the finale Thursday night, while Jim Perry opens against the Detroit Tigers in Cleveland Friday night.

In the Comiskey Park finale, Chicago's Billy Pierce won his fourth of the season and third against the Indians. He was yanked in the seventh and Russ Kemmerer finished.

Kemmerer stopped the Indians' seventh-inning rally by tossing out Harvey Kuenn. Then he hurled scoreless two-hit ball the last two innings.

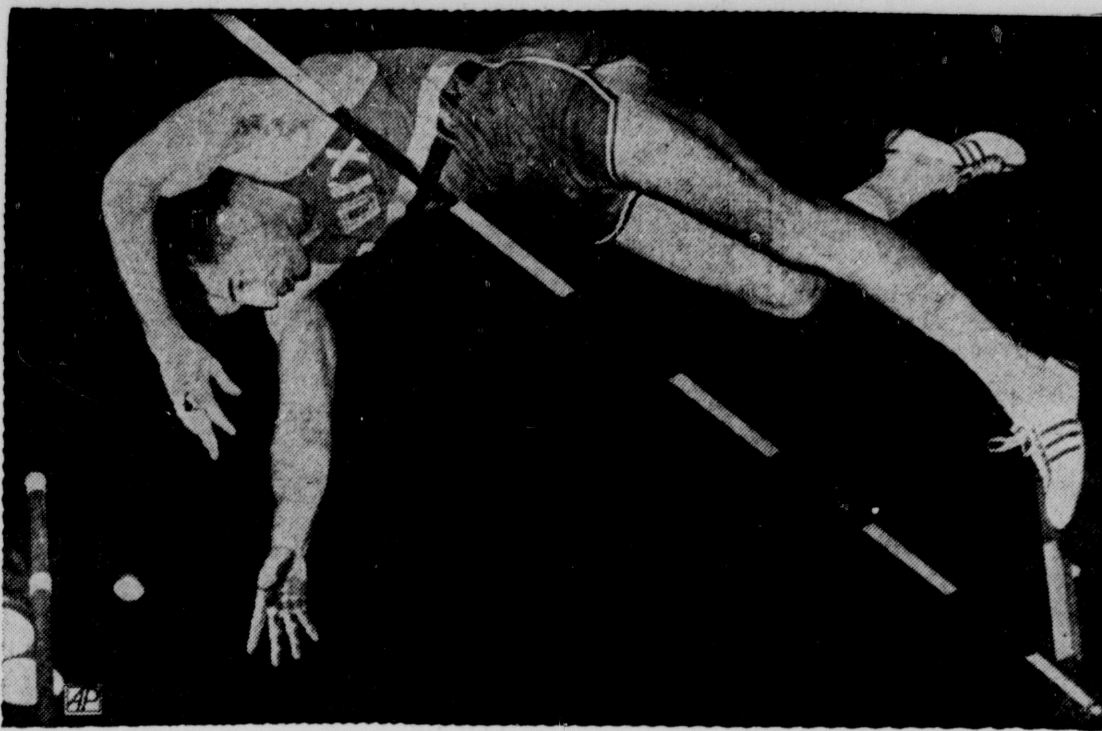

Gary Bell (5-3) suffered the loss. In six innings, he gave up six runs on 10 hits and four walks. Bob Tiefenauer hurled scoreless ball in the last two rounds.

Freese homered with a runner aboard in the fourth and Smith connected with the bases bare in the sixth. The Sox broke the tie in the fifth on Minnie Minoso's sacrifice fly with the bases loaded.

The Sox scored three more in the sixth.

Chasing Pierce, the Indians cut the White Sox lead in half with a pair of runs in the seventh on Ken Aspromonte's single to right with two away.

Los Angeles — Tommy Fields, 205, Los Angeles, outpointed Franklin Haynes, 182½, Los Angeles, 10.

HIGH FLIER — Don Bragg, of Penns Grove, Pa., one of the consistent top-flight performers in the pole vault, is given a good chance to qualify near the head of the class in forthcoming Olympic tryouts.

Orioles Defeat Yankees 3-2; Athletics, Red Sox Winners

By The Associated Press
You can call 'em the Baby Birds or the Kiddie Korps, but what those Baltimore Oriole pitchers are doing to rest of the American League these days is spelled m-u-r-d-e-r.

The five kid hurlers—Steve Barber, Chuck Estrada, Jack Fisher, Milt Pappas and Jerry Walker—all barely old enough to vote, have packed away 16 of the front-flying Birds' 25 victories.

Walker, the last to become a winner, nailed his first decision with a 3-2 victory over the New York Yankees Tuesday night. The 21-year-old right-hander had a no-hitter for six innings, then gave way for ninth-inning relief by Barber, also 21.

It was the fifth victory in six games for the Orioles and it gave them a two-game edge over Cleveland. Chicago's defending champion White Sox shook their slump and beat the second-place Indians 6-4.

Kansas City spilled Detroit 2-1 behind the three-hit pitching of Dick Hall. Boston escaped the cellar while plunking Washington 11, defeating the Senators 5-1.

In the National League, Pittsburgh defeated Cincinnati 4-3 in 11 innings and took a 1½-game lead over second-place San Francisco, beaten 9-1 by Chicago's Cubs. Philadelphia rapped Milwaukee 12-7. Los Angeles whipped St. Louis 8-3.

The Orioles beat left-hander Whitey Ford (2-3) for the first time in four decisions going back to last September. The clinching run came off reliever Ryne Duren, however, in the eighth inning and inning.

Mitchell, Plum Sign Again With Browns

CLEVELAND (AP) — Halfback Bobby Mitchell and quarterback Milt Plum have signed contracts to play for the Cleveland Browns this year, the National Football League club announced today.

Mitchell, 25, formerly of Illinois, will be in his third season with the Browns. Last year he gained 743 yards in 131 tries for a 5.7-yard average and scored 10 touchdowns. He also caught 35 passes for 330 yards, returned 17 kickoff 236 yards and carried 17 punts back 173 yards, including one for a 78-yard touchdown. His outstanding season was capped by a 90-yard touchdown run, longest in Browns' history.

Plum, also 25 and from Penn State, will be in his fourth season with the Browns. He completed 156 passes in 266 tries last season for 1,992 yards and 14 touchdowns.

Paul Brown, the Browns' coach and general manager, announced Tuesday night that his son, Mike, 25, is the team's new business manager, taking the job left vacant by the death last month of Russ Gestner.

The younger Brown just completed law studies at Harvard and plans to take the Ohio bar examination this summer. He played quarterback as an undergraduate at Dartmouth and worked with the Harvard football staff.

Stockton, Calif. — Benny Casling, 121, Stockton, knocked out Frankie Duarte, 121, Sonora, Mexico, 3.

London, England — Dave Charnley, 136½, London, knocked out Paul Armstead, 133½, Los Angeles, 9.

Giants Blasted 9-1 By Cubs

Phils Rip Braves, Dodgers Beat Cards

By The Associated Press
What's with the San Francisco Giants? Don't they know they're back home, where all that good pitching is supposed to pay off?

They won 14 of their first 19 games at spanning new Candlestick Park. But now the Chicago Cubs have taken two of three there, knocking out three of the Giants top pitchers and dropping them 1½ games behind the National League-leading Pittsburgh Pirates.

After jarring the Giants out of a share of the lead with a split in a Memorial Day doubleheader, the Cubs won 9-1 Tuesday night against southpaw Johnny Antonelli. The Pirates defeated Cincinnati 4-3 in 11 innings at Pittsburgh.

Last place Philadelphia cut loose for six runs in the eighth inning and whipped Milwaukee 12-7. Los Angeles rapped St. Louis 8-3.

In the American League, Baltimore gained a two-game lead by beating New York 3-2 while second place Cleveland lost 6-4 at Chicago. Kansas City defeated Detroit 2-1 on the three-hit pitching of ex-Pirate Frank Hall.

The Cubs, responsible for three of the Giants' seven defeats at spacious Candlestick, got this one on a pair of doubles by Jerry Kindall, good for three runs, and homers by Ernie Banks and Bob Will. Banks socked his 10th in the first inning off Antonelli. He also had a triple and double.

Glen Hobbie (4-6) was the winner, losing a shutout when he walked Willie McCovey and hit Orlando Cepeda ahead of a pair of infield outs in the second inning.

Roberto Clemente, regaining the NL bat lead at .353, singled with the bases loaded in the 11th for the Pirates. It was Pittsburgh's fourth straight victory and 14th in the last 19 games.

Elroy Face (4-3) won his fourth in a row with two innings of shutout relief, leaving the bases loaded in the 10th and 11th.

Two walks and a bunt single by Dick Groat, who had five of the Bucs' 13 hits, set up Cal McLish (2-4) for the loss. McLish was the sixth of eight Redleg pitchers.

The Phils tagged the loss on Lew Burdette (3-2), working in relief, while handing Milwaukee a fourth straight defeat. Bobby Del Greco and Pancho Herrera each drove in three runs for Philadelphia. Rookie Chris Short (2-0) won it in relief.

A tie-breaking grand slam home run by Norm Sherry, his first major league slam, won it for the Dodgers in the sixth against Ron Kline (2-4). Stan Williams (3-0) struck out eight, but gave up six-inning homers by Bill White and Ken Boyer and needed Larry Sherry's relief help for the victory.

Casper and his partner, Dick Casper, will each receive a medal. A large crowd attended the matches which were open to students of both graduate and undergraduate schools.

Casper is a student at the Ohio State University School of Medicine and is a member of the Alpha Kappa Kappa professional medical fraternity.

Hot Stove Leagues

Manager Ted Beery's Farmers National Bank team widened its lead in Class F of the Salem Hot Stove League by soundly trouncing previously unbeaten Sekely Industrial 16-0 Tuesday night at Memorial Park Field.

This was the third straight victory for the Bankers. Fisher's News and Elk's are also undefeated in Class F but each of them has played just one game.

The Farmers Bank being gives every indication of being capable of challenging defending champion

Fisher's News for the title this year. Besides their heavy hitting the Bankers have a strong pitching staff which has yielded just one run and six hits in three games.

Hunt's Industrial Union made its season debut in Class G last night and came out on the short end of a 36-4 pasting at the hands of Bricker & Bricker which won its first game of the year after one loss.

Electric Furnace trimmed Eljer 8-5 in the only other Hot Stove contest played last night. The Class E and Class G games scheduled for Centennial Park were called off because of wet grounds.

Class F

George Begalla twirled a four-hit shutout for Farmers Bank in its 16-0 win over Sekely's.

This was Begalla's second straight pitching victory. He has now yielded only one run and six hits in two games. Bink Washington, Farmers' other top-flight hurler, tossed a no hit-no run game in receiving credit for the other victory chalked up, by the unbeaten Bankers this season.

Farmers collected only seven hits off three Sekely pitchers yesterday, but the winners took advantage of 10 walks and five errors by the opposition.

The Bankers scored eight runs in the third inning although singles by Tom Hutson and Rick Juhn were the only hits in the frame. Washington, Begalla and Dyer Scott all had doubles for the winners.

Sekely made its only threat in the second inning when it produced singles off the bats of Doug Killman, Tom Marple and Jack Hurray but failed to score. One man was cut down at the plate and Begalla chopped down the other two hitters on strikeouts.

Electric Furnace spotted Eljer five runs in the first inning before relief pitcher Chuck Alexander came on in second frame to close the door the rest of the way and receive credit for an 8-5 victory.

Furnace got four runs back in the second inning when it pounded out a five-hit barrage off loser Joe Rottenborn. Manager Joe Wukotich's team broke the tie with a single marker in the fifth, then added two insurance runs in the seventh.

Eljer took advantage of starting hurler Mike DeRienzo's wildness and three big errors to tally five runs in the opening frame.

Jim Lantz, Rick Gregg, Chuck Alexander, Bob Rozek and Chuck Wukotich all hit safely in Electric Furnace's uprising in the second.

Alexander wound up with three hits for his night's work. Larry Uphold and Nick Gonatas accounted for Eljer's only two hits.

Class G

Bricker & Bricker had on its hitting clothes and Hunt's Industrial Union contributed an almost unbelievable total of 18 errors, resulting in a 36-4 nightmar.

Bricker's pounded three Hunt pitchers for 19 hits, eight of them in the third inning when 13 runs crossed the plate. Eighteen men went to bat that inning for Bricker's.

Dave Brudery collected five hits in seven times at bat for Brickers. One of his blows was a home run. Blair Whitman and John Bricker each pounded out three hits for the winners.

Hunt's only hit was a first inning double by George Makras. John Bricker and Dave Bradley handled the pitching chores for Bricker's.

The Saturday Night Opening Of Our Store

... was unintentional, unheard-of and unprecedented.
Although a 9:30 Saturday night opening attracted an unusually large crowd, we are not planning to repeat this schedule.
I want, at this time, to thank my readers who have made the following suggestions for this column:

"OPEN HOUSE"

"SALEM'S ONLY DRIVE-IN SPORTS STORE"

"FREE PARKING" (in our store)

"GRAND OPENING"

"CUT-GLASS SALE"

"SALEM NEWS ADS PULL PEOPLE INTO YOUR STORE"

Own A Home?
No? Then you must pay rent.
If you add up your rent receipts for the last year, or years, you will get the total amount of money you wasted, money you could have been paying on your own home. I have several homes which can be bought for a low down payment such as the following:
A five room, partly modern house, full basement, coal heat and it can be bought for as low as $100.00 down. It needs a little work but it's a start toward home ownership. Total price is $4,000.00. It is number 15 in our window display.
Two duplexes, excellent money makers both, and can be bought with as low as $1,000.00
down. Call today for an appointment to see these and several other houses which can be bought on terms.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: The letter written by the hat check girl got my goat. People who try to shame and embarrass the public into tipping give me a gigantic pain. I'm a bookkeeper who makes $6,000 a year. Nobody tips me for doing a good job.

I eat out every night and enjoy the company of a date for dinner. If I don't leave a big tip the girl friend gives me a dirty look. I'm expected to tip the waiter who brings the cocktails, then tip the waitress who serves the dinner. Of course, you have to tip the hat check girl (YOU said so.) And the guy who parks the car has to get a tip, too. Naturally, there's a doorman who must be "taken care of." Everybody has his hand out. I'm fed to the Adam's apple with this tipping racket. Am I wrong or right?—THE CHEAP SKATE.

Dear Cheap: You say you're a $6,000 a year bookkeeper? You live as if you have a $1,000-a-month inheritance.

Of course nobody tips a bookkeeper. Why should they? You're not in a service business.

We've walked this cat around the column before and the consensus is as follows: The European system of tipping is more desirable than the American system. In Europe, 15 per cent is added to the bill and further tipping is not mandatory.

In this country, however, tipping is a custom and people accept it as part of the cost of going out. If you resent tipping so bitterly, park your own car and walk a few blocks, eat in a cafeteria and keep your hat and coat with you.

On The QT

Dear Ann: Please print this as I don't want my mother to know I wrote to you.

I'm 15 and in a difficult position. Our house is not nice at all and I'm ashamed to have the fellows see the inside. (The outside is bad enough.)

When my date comes to pick me up I meet him on the porch. I know this is not polite and that I should let the fellows in the house but every room needs paint and the furniture and rugs are shabby. My mother asked me the other day why I never invite the boys in. I told her I'm always in a hurry. I think she knew it wasn't a straight story.

I can't keep this up forever, Ann. Please help me.—SCRANTON.

Dear Scranton: Most fellows aren't the least bit interested in the house. A guy who would stop dating you because the furniture isn't in good condition isn't worth your time.

Your next date should be invited in and have a chance to say a word or two to your mother. One need never apologize for a home—if it's orderly.

Word for Word

Dear Ann: I'm going to repeat word for word what a very attractive fellow in the office said to me. First, I'm 20, single and not bad looking.

He said: "Wilma, I'll take you to dinner and to the theater if you lose 20 pounds, let your hair go back to natural and quit using that hideous white lipstick."

My mother said he's a crude jerk and that he'd accept me as I am if he were the right kind of person. What do you say?—SATISFIED.

Dear Satisfied: He may be a crude jerk but I'll bet it would be a good idea if you lost 20 pounds, let your hair go back to natural and throw away that hideous white lipstick. Thank him for his interest and take him up on it.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Salem News, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Meeting Scheduled for Beef Cattle Producers

LISBON — Several area beef cattle producers are expected to attend the beef cattle day Thursday, June 9, at the north western substation in Wood County, sponsored by the Agricultural Experiment Station at Wooster, according to Don Myers, county extension agent in agriculture.

Production testing, ultra-sonic testing of muscle and fat thickness on live animals, and handling high moisture corn for silage will be topics of special interest.

Dr. O. R. Stouffer of Cornell University will give a morning demonstration of the ultra-sonic device used for measuring the proportion of lean meat to fat. In the afternoon, he will discuss the potentialities of this new technique which is heralded as a promising aid in selecting beef breeding stock.

Many other topics will be featured, including beef cattle housing and yard surface, beef cattle diseases and agronomy experiments.

TO GET MENTAL EXAM
YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP)—The Mahoning County grand jury recommended Tuesday that Raymond Burt Bloom Jr., a druggist who turned gunman, be sent to Lima State Hospital for the Criminal Insane.

The jury indicted Bloom on two counts of shooting with intent to kill, one of armed robbery and one of assault with intent to rob. Police said the young druggist went berserk on the night of April 18, stole an automobile at gunpoint and then tried to hold up a west side business establishment, shooting two persons who tried to disarm him.
